Citizen, whose inclinations run to the more pastoral form, and somewhat bordering on the contented cow idea, is disturbed by a young fellow with a striped down car and a loud horn, which he sounds vociferously about two blocks before reaching the house where the sweet young thing awaits the coming of her knight errant. He is a creative genius, so far as noise is concerned. The get-away is as tumultuous as the arrival; boy-friend turns the corner on two wheels, and "a motoring we will go, a motoring we will go," and where they go isn't what's bothering my peaceful friend. He relates the incident to me and seeks remedial action. I can't do a thing, but maybe the undertaker will.

I don't know whether John Miller is trying to get me into trouble, or whether he is trying to get out. By some sinuous process he comes into possession of a bunch of keys of the Yale variety. They do not belong to him. They do not belong to me. If they belong to you come and get 'em. They are on my desk. John thinks, and so do I sometimes, that the five keys in the small leather case are valuable to some one. They have no value to either of us.

Friend gets an appeal for more money so honey wife can continue her vacation, reminds me of the tenderfoot who strayed from home and got into a professional draw poker game. He lost consistently and finally touched bottom. So he sent a telegram back home: "Good game, send more money."

Over the coffee after the morning matutinal. Experiences of the previous day discussed. Disappointments and surprises, joys and incidents with the joy squeezed out of them. Wide variations, depending upon how many conversational participants. Boiled down most of it extraneous, with the indefinite "he said" or "she said," predominating, plus the usual warning, "don't say that I told you." Life is made up of conversation—most of it piffle. Have another cup of coffee?

And then there was the fellow who wanted to go to old Mexico, and tried to persuade his friend to accompany him. The friend resisted, and asked why the trip to Mexico? Oh, said the Mexico enthusiast, I want to see some of the old ruins. He got this answer: "Well, stay here; we have plenty of 'em."

If I had a drum I'd go to the Stockton convention with those Legionnaires, but in all probability I wouldn't be protesting to remain very long. However, I'll bet one thing, that when the parade came along everybody would be out of step but ME.

John D. Rockefeller, sr., who, I am informed, made quite a business success, said that "the ability to deal with people is as purchasable a commodity as sugar or coffee. And I will pay more for that ability than for any other under the sun." There is something worth more to a business man than his merchandise.

The open season on vacations is gradually closing. A few more just going, many are returning, and a limited number preparing for the annual outing which is supposed to supply lacking vigor. So many people are able to take "time out" that their absence imposes what is known as the dull period. It will soon be over and "business as usual" will be re-established. Normalcy, therefore, is just around the corner.

Dick Bird is a good sailor, but he had a boat that he thought was about 1200 feet too short on a recent trip from Seattle down the coastline. The boat was all right but it wasn't built for the storm which Dick encountered. The way he told the story to me made me think that he was trying to read his title clear to mansions in the sky, but there was a blur on the deed. Well, he has another chance to clear it up.

Art Shipkey comes over from Anaheim at 12:30 and invites me to go to lunch with him, when I go to my lunch at 11:30. It's a safe gesture on his part, but one of these days I'll wait until 12:30, and then he won't invite me, I'll betcha.

5TH MAN ENDS LIFE IN 'SUICIDE GROVE'

HOUSING BILL GETS SENATE APPROVAL

Slum Clearance to Cost $700,000,000

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The senate passed a modified Wagner housing bill today and sent it to the house.

The vote was 64 to 16.

The bill would authorize a bond issue of $700,000,000 during the next three years and an initial appropriation of $26,000,000 to make loans and grants to public housing authorities for construction of low-rent dwellings and slum clearance.

D. R. S. PROJECT

The measure was one of the major points in President Roosevelt's legislative program.

Most of the discussion centered on restrictive and clarifying amendments, many of which were adopted. They included an amendment placing the proposed housing authority under the supervision of Secretary Ickes' interior department.

One of the principal changes was a restriction proposed by Senator Byrd (D., Va.) that no new housing project could be built with federal aid at a cost of more than $4000 a family unit or $1000 per room exclusive of land cost and expense of slum demolition.

SAVE 25 MILLION

The senate eliminated from the bill a section which would have authorized the government to build and operate demonstration projects at the rate of $25,000,000 a year.

It added a requirement that each housing project be accompanied by proportionate slum clearance. It specified that not more than 20 per cent of all funds should be spent in any one state.

DELAY BEACH PLANT FIGHT

Orange county's fight before state officials to save $2,000,000 in electrical equipment for local assessment rolls stood postponed today until next Friday.

Los Angeles city officials, who are protesting the assessment of machinery at the city's electrical plant at Seal Beach, requested a week's time yesterday afternoon after Assessor James Sleeper and District Attorney W. F. Menton of Orange county had appeared before the state board of equalization.

The city of Seal Beach has assessed the plant to net about $48,000 in taxes, and Orange county has levied on it to yield about $34,000. Los Angeles contends the machinery is personal property, which is not taxable when it is owned by a municipality. Sleeper has assessed it as improvements.

COMMITTS SUICIDE

Miss Elizabeth Reinhardt, Route 1, Box 45, Placentia, was reported by the coroner's office to have committed suicide this morning by inhaling carbon monoxide gas from the exhaust of her car, which was parked near Olive.

Sunlight Death Ray for Rattler

By MILLARD BROWNE

SANTA ANA. (Special).—Herman Keene, lion and rattlesnake hunter deluxe, has a theory, to wit: Snakes are sissies when the weather's hot.

He's been trying to prove it for years, but there never were any snakes available when the mercury rose to what he thought was the snake-killing point.

Yesterday was different. Keene had a rattler—a big, fat and healthy one. And it was hot—two experimental thermometers registered 120 in the sun, another hit 150, and his overtaxed mercury defied five minutes' bathing in ice water. The snake was doomed to become a "guinea pig" for science.

It's a Swell Comet—If You Can Find It

By FRANK ORR

"If that is a comet," said Police Chief Gus Barnes of Placentia, "I want my money back."

In the first place, Barnes wasn't looking at a comet. It turned out we were all looking several million miles in the wrong direction. Trying to find a thing with a head eight times larger than the earth and a tail two million miles long! If your eyes are good—better yet, if you have a good pair of binoculars—you stand a fine chance of seeing the monster tonight, provided the street light isn't too close. He's only a few million miles away and can be seen with the naked eye. Here's how to find him, according to Walter Ferris, Santa Ana amateur astronomer who saw the comet last night from the Tubbs observatory on Lemon Heights:

IT'S RIGHT THERE

Draw a line—imaginary, of course—from the bottom corner of the little dipper to the lip of the big dipper. Draw another line from the northstar to the lip of the big dipper. Another imaginary line through the center of that triangle—and the comet is just west of that center line.

That's Ferris's comet, the latest thing in astronomical wonders and the first major comet to wander in the direction of this part of the earth, they say, since the Pons-Winneke comet in 1927.

This super-heavenly attraction will be around until the middle of this month, Ferris said. Then his leave from the mysterious outer regions of the heavens is up. He'll have to go home, and what's more, scientists aren't yet sure whether he'll ever come back to take a look at that funny little thing which he probably doesn't know is the earth.

A JULY 4TH BABY

He was discovered hanging around the super-stratosphere on July 4 by Dr. Finsler of Zurich, Switzerland. Telescope tipplers are doing their darndest to check up on rumors he came around to steal the thunder of the legendary Loch Ness monster which they say has reappeared in one of Scotland's lakes.

Cynics like the comet better. They can see him.

Ferris said the comet was very nicely defined in the telescopes last night. He saw the nucleus and the tail, which points away from the sun.

It's heading for Arcturus, for some reason, too.

WAR FEVER HITS NANKING

NANKING. (AP)—China's capital verged on war fever tonight while Japanese bluejackets in Hankow, Central China's great trading center far up the Yangtze, feverishly evacuated their people and faced Chinese soldiers across street barricades.

A Nanking air defense association bought gas masks, trained its members, and told the people what to do in the case of bombs or gas attacks.

"Be prepared," said one city-wide slogan, "the enemy airplanes are expected to drop bombs momentarily."

Keene bundled his snake into a car and drove to Piru, where he and three fellow theorists established a temporary laboratory at the side of the road near the Piru creek bridge. It was here that the sun-stricken thermometers jumped to 120 and 150, respectively.

The snake was bundled out of his cage and onto a shoulder of the steaming pavement. Duly tarized—and photographed with 16-millimeter movie film—is the following blow-by-blow description:

First six minutes—The snake jumps around in lively manner, trying all the while to junk the whole experiment and head for the shade, any shade. Presently the

Man Chose Spot Near Where 4 Others Died

Orange county's "suicide grove" claimed its fifth victim today.

In the dark shadows of the gum trees near the corner of Los Alamos and Garden Grove avenues, Homer M. Knowles, 49, of 1465 Gaviota street, Long Beach, took his own life by making a carbon monoxide death trap of his car.

FOUND FIVE DAYS AFTER

For five days the slumped body of Knowles remained in his car before it was discovered by an employee of a ranch nearby and reported to Seal Beach police.

A more deliberate suicide has never taken place in the county, Coroner Earl Abbey said today.

Knowles very carefully had attached a hose to the exhaust pipe of his car, run it through a small hole in the rear, and made the car air-tight by sealing openings with newspapers.

Beside him on the seat was found a copy of the New Testament, opened to St. John, 14, which the suicide victim apparently had been reading as he inhaled the deadly fumes.

LEFT WILL IN POCKET

Also found in the car were notes written to his wife, Mary A. Knowles; his mother, Mrs. Ella Knowles; a doctor; and to authorities. A newly written will, carefully disposing of his property, was found in his pocket.

According to Knowles' wife, he had been despondent since an accident two years ago which left him with permanent injuries.

An auto parts dealer in Long Beach, Knowles chose a spot where four other persons have committed suicide in recent years.

Besides his wife and mother, he is survived by a son, Paul H. Knowles, and a brother, Ralph. The body was taken to the Hilgenfeld funeral home in Anaheim.

EDEN OIL TEST TO COST $200

Orange county will pay only about $200 for tests of the much-disputed Eden road oil, it was learned today by The Journal, and not $500 as erroneously reported elsewhere.

The county will pay for tests conducted by a Cal Tech chemist, and not those made by Sheppard-Pendleton, Long Beach chemists. The chemist is acting individually, because Cal Tech declined to make the tests as an institution.

The suit, in which the Eden Refining company asks $1729 and not $129, as reported elsewhere, has been delayed since June 25, not several months, while results of the tests are awaited. The case followed sensational charges in the last supervisory campaign that the Eden company had sold oil containing a large quantity of mud and water to the county.

May to August Romance Ends

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Married in May, honeymoon in June, separation in July, divorce in August, was the record today of June Lang, screen actress, and Victor Orsatti, actor's agent.

The reason for the end of his married life, Orsatti said in winning a divorce yesterday, was that Miss Lang refused to live apart from her mother.

Miss Lang did not contest the divorce suit, the interlocutory decree being granted by default.

SLASH COUNTY COSTS BELOW $4,000,000

Sheriff's Request for Bigger Force Chopped

Orange county's budget was whittled down below the $4,000,000 mark today—but indications were it might top that mark again when courthouse salaries are revised.

Supervisors wrestled with the bulky budget until 11:30 o'clock last night, marked it O. K., and sent it to County Auditor W. T. Lambert for final typing before a double-check this afternoon prepares it for the printers.

SHERIFF'S PLAN CUT

Among items which fell by the wayside, according to usually reliable sources at the courthouse, were approximately $4000 from the welfare department's $1,000,000 budget, principally in administration costs, and Sheriff Logan Jackson's request for 11 new deputies at a salary cost of $16,000.

Already chopped from the budget by action of the board last week was an item of $2500 for exhibits at Sacramento and Pomona fairs. Budget requests had totaled $4,010,000 when first submitted to the board.

Several department heads were called on the supervisory carpet in closed session yesterday afternoon to explain questioned items on their requests.

OFFICIALS QUESTIONED

Among those quizzed were Auditor Lambert, Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs on replacement of equipment, Treasurer T. E. Stephenson on a requested bookkeeping machine, Welfare Director Jack W. Snow on administration costs and a request for automobiles for his visitors, and Jackson.

U. S.; RUSSIA IN TRADE PACT

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt proclaimed today a new commercial agreement with Soviet Russia by which that country agrees to purchase at least $40,000,000 in American products during the next year.

This is an increase of $10,000,000 over the amount of goods the Soviet government obligated itself to buy in this country by a somewhat similar agreement which expired on July 12.

In return, the United States grants an unconditional, most-favored-nation commercial treatment to Russia for the first time.

The state department said the new pact became effective on Aug. 4 with an exchange of notes in Moscow between Ambassador Joseph P. Davies and Maxim Litvinov, Soviet commissar for foreign affairs.

WILKIE GETS PERMIT TO PAY

Captain Don Wilkie of Laguna Beach, who whispers crime-does-not-pay stories into radio microphones and who was a candidate for sheriff in 1934, had to get a superior court order today for permission to pay a bill—and to keep him and his creditor out of jail.

In a case believed unique in California legal history, Wilkie appeared in Superior Judge G. K. Scovel's court just before noon today and got permission to pay a $312.70 balance on an advertising and printing account with James Farquhar of the Huntington Beach News.

If Wilkie had paid the bill, both he and Farquhar would have been guilty of a misdemeanor under a 1907 California law. If they had known about the law, they would have been guilty of a felony.

The law provides that bills for campaign expense must be submitted within 10 days, and must be paid within 12 days after election. If payment is made later, debtor and creditor are held criminally liable.

Judge Scovel, who hadn't heard of it either, looked up the law and approved the petition, filed by Atty. Z. B. McKinney.

JAIL PAIR ON WRECK CHARGE

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Jailed on charges of "conspiracy to defraud," two prominent physicians today denied today they were linked with an asserted $500,000 series of fake automobile accidents claims.

"I'm innocent of any crime and I regard this as an outrage," said Dr. G. O. McKeenan, operator of a hospital today, when he was arrested.

Information from George O. Dorris, who has pleaded guilty to staging traffic crashes upon which false damage claims were made, drew the two physicians into the inquiry, Deputy District Attorney George Stahlman said.

County Employees Picnic Tonight

Budgets and salary revisions were put in metal pigeonholes this afternoon as county employees and officials got ready for their annual picnic get-together at Irvine park tonight.

Constable Jesse Elliott, general chairman for the affair, said he expected approximately 500 persons to attend. A basket lunch at 6:30 will be followed by an entertainment program arranged by Coroner Earl Abbey, and dancing to the music of Lee Mann's new 13-piece dance orchestra, which makes its first appearance tonight.

RESPIRATOR RUSHED HERE FROM L. A.

Doctors Call Finding Of Device 'Miracle'

By KENNETH ADAMS

Luck, speed and the modern miracles of science were credited today with saving the life of a new-born babe at the St. Joseph hospital.

The baby boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis W. Fischen of Orange, had its tiny body encased in one of the new "iron lungs" today. Without the special respirator it had little if any chance to live.

Born in an unusually delicate and dangerous Caesarean operation two and a half weeks ago, the baby later developed a serious respiratory trouble which made breathing impossible. Medical science here marshalled its forces and kept the tiny bit of humanity alive by means of artificial respiration.

In the meantime, a frantic search was started for one of the "iron lungs," of the type which attracted international attention when a youth was shipped to the United States in one of them. Yesterday an order was placed for one of the modern life-saving devices.

FOUND 'LUNG' IN L. A.

At that time it was believed that it would be necessary to rush an "iron lung" to Santa Ana from the factory, at Boston, Mass. Arrangements were carried out to this effect, until luck entered the picture and contrived to help save the baby's life.

The luck was in the fact that a representative of the factory which manufactures the device happened to be in Los Angeles demonstrating one of them. The factory at Boston called him in Los Angeles, and the "lung" was rushed to Santa Ana yesterday afternoon.

BELIEVE TOT WILL LIVE

Exactly at 3 p. m. yesterday the little body was encased in the device, and hope for saving the baby's life soared in the breasts of its mother and father and attending physicians.

The "iron lung" in which the baby now draws its life breath is an infant size. It was an almost unbelievable stroke of luck that such a one would be in Los Angeles just when it was so badly needed. It was a miracle to match the miracle of science which devised the respiratory apparatus, said attending physicians.

Today attending physicians said the baby undoubtedly will live.

BANK HOLDUP NETS $30,000

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP)—A report to Sheriff Leland Morrow of Clark county today said a robber held up the Stevenson National bank at Stevenson, Wash., and escaped with between $20,000 and $30,000.

Sheriff Morrow said word of the robbery was telephoned here by the sheriff at Stevenson. The sheriff here was informed he escaped in a sedan carrying a California license.

I'll Tell You

By BOB BURNS

One thing my kinkfolds have always been honest on is their truthfulness and I'll always be proud of one letter a man wrote me one time. He says, "You deserve more credit for truthfulness than Washington."

He said, "Washington couldn't tell a lie—you can, but won't." I think one of the most truthful ones in my family is my Aunt Kezzy Moomaw. There's a woman who wouldn't tell a falsehood for anything. One day my uncle came home and he found Aunt Kezzy all upset.

He said, "What in the world is the matter with you?" and she says, "We just got an invitation to attend one of those terrible dinners at Mrs. Hymer Van Smoot."

She said, "I'd rather take a beating than go to one of their dinners—because I know we'll just be bored to tears and the food is terrible!"

My uncle says, "Well, why don't you just call her up that night and tell her you've got a headache?" Aunt Kezzy was horrified! She says, "Why I couldn't think of telling her that—that would be a deliberate lie!"

She said, "You just sit down and write her a letter and tell her we accept with pleasure!"

1ST VALENCIA POOL BRINGS GOOD PRICE

Santiago Growers Issue Statement

High seasonal prices brought substantial and satisfactory returns to citrus growers affiliated with the Santiago Orange Growers association in the first pool of the season, according to a report given to The Journal by a grower.

The Journal learned today that checks for settlement to growers for valencias picked in the first pool of the present season were received yesterday by growers marketing through the Santiago house, rated as the largest citrus packing plant in the world.

AVERAGE $2.60 A BOX

Officials of the packing house would not reveal the total amount of the payment made growers, but the average, at the packing house with all charges paid except picking and hauling, was $2.60 per packed box.

The high prices being received for fruit marketed were evident in reports received by growers. Recent f. o. b. prices were $4.23 a box in 1937 as compared with $2.90 in 1936 and $2.19 in 1935.

FROST LOSS

The grower's lot in the pool with the highest return had an average of $4.43 per packed box. The grower having the poorest return had over 86 per cent throwout for frost. However, on the latter lot there was enough to pay all charges including picking and hauling, and to give the grower a check. Adding to the payment made at this time, the estimated refund and future payments will give the grower a fair return considering that the fruit was practically all frost damaged.

It is estimated that the valencia marketing season is about two-thirds over. It is possible that from now on there will be only about one-half as much fruit to ship as last season at this time.

The first Santiago pool was completed 25 days earlier this year than last.

TRUCKING RATE CASE WATCHED

With Orange county agricultural interests of from five to 10 million dollars at stake, the directors of the Farm Bureau yesterday requested executive officers to make sure that the county was adequately represented at coming meetings where a series of agricultural trucking rate cases will come before the railroad commission.

A request also was sent to the law and utilities department of the state Farm Bureau federation asking more assistance in protecting the local farmer's interest in the rate cases.

Dates for the annual convention of the state federation were announced by R. J. McFadden to have been set for Nov. 15 to 18. The meeting will be held in Modesto.

The directors heard a report by F. C. Latham, chairman of the tax committee, which included a letter sent to all school trustees in the county recommending no increase in the school budget and asking that an effort be made to have adequate representation of citizens at the school budget hearing.

Latham called the board's attention to proposed tax increases and received instruction to continue an analysis of the budget and to protect against property taxes for roads. The committee is to insist that tax money for the repayment of loans made for relief purposes shall not be drawn from rural areas alone.

L. P. Halderman received a reappointment by the board as chairman of the recreation department.

Eventually a lot of people are interested in major disasters, when they come, when they come. Five hundred citizens attended a meeting at Santiago park to familiarize themselves with their part in the organization should disaster overtake the community of which they are a part. The trouble with major disasters is there is no advance information. So the old forewarned is forearmed won't work except from the standpoint of anticipation. And that's just what the Major Disaster committee is organized for. There is a splendid synchronization of complicated machinery, and maybe you do not know it, but if a major disaster does happen to visit your section you are likely to find yourself in a place you can fill without having had any previous preparation or notification. But the main arteries will take care of most of the blood stream of rescue and relief. So don't leave town. Your part may be seemingly unimportant, but it will be what you can do.

Feats of strength similar to the one shown above will be done by S. A. Clark, Santa Ana strong man, when he celebrates his 75th birthday at his home, 2302 West Fifth street, tomorrow. He will entertain the public at 2:30 and 7:30 p. m. Claiming no one his age in the nation can duplicate his strong-man stunts, he offers a cash prize to the first person that can do one particular stunt. There will be musical entertainment by the Herd and Lentz musical group.

ASKS $10,000 FOR DEATH

Asking $10,000 damages for the death of Milton Quandt, 25, in a crossing accident last Jan. 29, Mrs. Clara Quandt, the youth's mother, had filed suit today in superior court against the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad company.

Mrs. Quandt charges the company was negligent in that the engineer did not blow the whistle or ring the bell on the locomotive as the train approached the Orangeflower crossing, where a young Quandt's car was about to cross.

She alleges she and the boy's father, John Quandt, have been deprived of financial assistance through the youth's death.

Death of Pup Halts Million Dollar Movie

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Pet shops were searched today for a double of "Louie," a $5 collie pup, whose fatal injury by a hit-run driver halted production of a million-dollar movie.

"Louie," brought back by the film company from a location trip to Mount Baker, Wash., escaped from the studio lot yesterday. In his haste to see Hollywood, he dashed in front of a speeding automobile.

Director Leslie Seelander said several important sequences could not be filmed until "Louie's" double was found. His burial in a pet cemetery was arranged by Producer Harry Sherman.

Cricket Curse May Turn to Gold in Montana

SUNDANCE, Wyo. (AP)—Officials of Sundance studied a Californian's letter today and hoped they might turn the Mormon crickets which menaced the town into money.

O. F. Avery of Los Angeles asked a shipment of five dozen crickets "for experimental purposes."

Avery said he wanted to see if the crickets would make good bait for trout.

"If I find them o. k.," he wrote, "I may be able to use several tons."

Fair officials said the navy department had agreed, if international developments did not prevent, to concentrate a major portion of the fleet in New York's harbor early in the summer of 1939. The fair opens April 30, 1939.

U. S.-JAPAN CRISIS IS AVERTED

Guard Against Flyers Joining Chinese

TOKYO. (AP)—Foreign Minister Koki Hirota assured the Japanese parliament today that the United States government "is carefully guarding against" reported attempts to enlist American aviators for the Chinese army.

Previously the Tokyo government had been reported ready to call Washington's attention to Los Angeles dispatches quoting Russell L. Hearn as declaring 182 American pilots were ready to go to China to fly Chinese war planes. Hirota declared the United States government would be alert to stop "any such action."

During the session, Gen. Gen Sugiyama, the minister of war, told parliament more troops were being rushed to reinforce the Japanese army in its undeclared war on China.

Temporary suspension of American missionary activity in North China because of hostilities is "most likely," Shochi Murao, general secretary of the Tokyo Y. M. C. A., told the Associated Press.

ASKS DIVORCE FROM COMEDIAN

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Eric Blore, rotund film comedian, joined today of film funny men whose wives thought their conduct in real life was anything but comical.

Mrs. Clara Mackin Blore filed suit late yesterday against the comedian for separate maintenance of $900 monthly. She charged he returned home in the early morning hours, turned on the radio full blast and swore at her when she protested. She charged he drank excessively and has become "a mental and nervous wreck."

Mrs. Blore asked half his earnings of $650 a week pending trial of the suit. The $900 monthly regular maintenance she seeks is for support of herself and their son, Eric Herbert, jr., 10 years of age.

The Blores were married in New York June 12, 1935.

INVESTIGATE HOAX BIRTH DOCTOR

Allege False Record In Chicago Tangle

CHICAGO. (AP)—A city attorney began an investigation of a doctor's alleged falsification of a birth record today as Donald Horst's real and foster parents mapped a legal fight for custody of the 31-month-old abduction victim.

The birth record, issued by Dr. John Rose, was uncovered after Donald was snatched Tuesday from the arms of Mrs. Martha Horst by John Regan and Lydia Nelson, the boy's natural parents. The child was surrendered the next day and placed in an orphanage pending settlement of the custody dispute.

Corporation Counsel Barnett Hodes said the board of health had notified him Dr. Rose filed a certificate stating the child was born to Mrs. Horst although he actually was born to Miss Nelson at an address different from the one on the document.

Hodes said his investigation would continue until determination of whether any action could be taken against the physician.

Dr. Ross has been visiting in Batavia, N. Y. He is a business associate of Otto Horst, whom Donald knows as "daddy."

Horst, announcing he had retained John E. Johnson, an assistant state attorney general, for the custody battle, said "I'll spend every nickel I have to get the boy back."

Whittier Gets Anti-Picket Law

WHITTIER. (AP)—A drastic anti-picketing ordinance went into effect in Whittier today.

It prohibits pickets from loitering, carrying signs for any purpose, dissuading any person from entering a place of employment or restraining any person from making a purchase.

Violation is punishable by a $300 fine or a 90-day jail sentence, or both.

Session to End Aug. 21 to 25

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Majority Leader Rayburn of Texas formally advised the house today that its leadership hoped to conclude the present session between Aug. 21 and 25.

Rayburn took the floor after Acting Minority Leader Martin (R. Mass.) had said that congress could go home tomorrow night "if we are going to have to come back here for a special session on Oct. 15." Cheers and applause greeted Martin's statement.

Asserting he thought the program for the balance of the session was "well understood," Rayburn assured the house if it was completed there would be no need for a special session.

Italians Lift Newspaper Ban

ROME. (AP)—The Italian government announced today that it had lifted its three-month-old ban on British newspapers.

Prominently displayed accounts of Italian defeats in Spain in the British papers led to the ban and the recall of all Italian newspaper correspondents from London on May 8, prior to the coronation of King George VI.

The correspondents were authorized to return to London earlier this week.

TOO MUCH

Two hired hands from neighboring farms were telling each other their troubles. One was complaining about not getting enough to eat. "Just this morning," he said, "the cook says to me, 'Do you know how many pancakes you've et already this morning?' I told her I didn't have occasion to count 'em. Well," says she, "that last one was the twenty-sixth." And it made me so hot I got up from the table and went to work without my breakfast."—Montreal Herald.

THEATER SUE BY MEXICANS IN RACE CASE

Walker Denies Charge Of 'Discrimination'

Racial discrimination is charged against the Walker theater, Victor Walker and Charles Walker, in a damage suit on file today in the Santa Ana justice court.

Ramon Lucia and Christina Lucia seek $1500 damages for allegedly being refused admittance to the theater on July 24, it was revealed in a complaint filed late yesterday afternoon.

Lucia, a nephew of Lucas Lucia, Orange county honorary commissioner for the Mexican government, is 25 years old, and drives a truck on the Marcy ranch. Lucas Lucia said the suit has been filed as a test case, and the action was decided upon following a conference of 35 Mexicans representing all the Mexican philanthropic, labor and social organizations of the county.

FIRST CASE OF KIND

The damage action is based on the allegation that the Mexican couple purchased tickets to the theater at the box office, and then were not allowed to enter the show, an asserted violation of a state law. It is believed to be the first case of its kind ever filed here.

It is charged that admittance to the show was refused solely because of race and color, and that the action was discriminatory.

W. M. Burke is acting attorney for the Lucias, reside at 2022 West Fifth street.

Lucas Lucia said that the action was taken following a conference he had with Renato Contreras, Mexican consul at Los Angeles, who felt that the law should be appealed to in order to establish rights for Mexican children born in the United States and who are citizens of this nation.

SAYS CHARGE UNFOUNDED

When interviewed by E. Walker, senior partner of Walker's theaters, stated he had made a complete investigation of the charges and could find absolutely no foundation therefor.

He further stated that at all times the Walker's theaters were operated in full compliance with law and that all regulations applied equally to all races.

GUARD DYER IN COURT APPEARANCE

Suspect in Deaths of Three Girls on Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Heavily guarded, Albert Dyer was led through crowded corridors into court today for his trial on charges that he murdered three little Inglewood girls.

About 300 persons lined the halls to see at small, swarthy defendant. Most of them were women.

Jury selection was expected to last two days.

District Attorney Byron Fitts predicted:

"Albert Dyer will be found guilty of murder in the first degree, and he will hang."

Dyer, who was employed to help small children across a street at Catalina park in Inglewood, is accused of killing Melba Marie Everett, 9, her sister, Madeline, 7, and their playmate, Jeanette Marjorie Stephens, 8, into the nearby Baldwin Hills on the pretext that they would hunt rabbits.

He is charged with strangling them to death one by one with pieces of rope.

CLAIMS GROVE DEAL BROKEN

Alleging she has been prevented from carrying out her duties as manager of a Carolina avenue orange grove under an agreement, Lillian E. Yeager today had filed suit in superior court against Carolina J. Bancroft Covert, owner of the property.

The purported agreement, filed with the complaint, gives the plaintiff power to manage the grove for a period of 10 years from Oct. 27, 1934, at a 25 per cent share of the profits, including a guarantee of $1000 a year.

In March of this year, she charges, the defendant took over management of the property, preventing her from discharging her duties as manager.

She seeks the court for a declaration of her rights and duties, and a decree giving her the power to manage the ranch unmolesed.

CLAIMS DIKES INJURE RANCH

J. W. Cox, Yorba Linda rancher, today had filed suit in superior court against owners of adjoining property, charging their drainage dikes are seriously injuring his property.

He is suing Frank F. Moore and Lula Moore, owners of an adjoining ranch, who he says have built dikes and planted eucalyptus trees which force storm and surface waters to run over his land, damaging his orange and lemon trees.

Last winter, he alleges, his trees were surrounded to a depth of three feet with silt. He asks judgment for $10,000 for that alleged damage and an injunction preventing further similar overflow.

Says She Wed Him For Beauty Course

His wife married him just to finance her education in a beauty school, Merlyn R. Burns charges in a suit for annulment filed today in superior court.

Burns charges his wife, Georgiana Burns, 20, was married to him April 21 of this year in Las Vegas, Nev. They separated, he alleges, on July 8 after she had been cold and unaffectionate to him. He says she entered into the marriage contract only to obtain his maintenance and support and to finance her education as a beautician.

CRASH VICTIM DIES AFTER REFUSING AID

Former Pastor Found Dead at Home

Refusing help from neighbors after he had been injured in a crash with a truck, G. P. Haywood, former negro preacher, met death alone in his home at 615 Fairlawn street late last night.

Believing a murder had taken place, Eddie Palmer, 412 Forest avenue, early this morning called police to the scene.

Palmer, also a negro, called to take Haywood to work, and found him lying half dressed across his bed.

Officers investigating the death quickly dismissed the possibility of foul play upon learning that Haywood had been brought to his home last night by Patrolmen Ralph A. Pantuso and L. C. Rogers after he had run head-on into a parked truck while riding his bicycle.

REFUSED FIRST AID

The two officers reported that the negro, who is about 70 years old, was injured about the head, but refused medical aid.

When Mrs. Tom Allen, a neighbor, saw the man brought home, she summoned Rose Ealey, 701 Fairlawn street, and went to Haywood's house.

"He was in the kitchen when we went in," Miss Ealey said, "and when Mrs. Allen asked him if we could take care of him, he told us to go on home. He said he was all right and was going to bed. The policeman said he had been drinking but he didn't sound drunk to us."

Coroner Earl Abbey said that the death probably came as the result of a hemorrhage in the head. Blood had flowed from his nose and ear as he lay across the bed.

STUDIED FOR MINISTRY

Haywood had no relatives in Santa Ana, but letters found in his home revealed that he has a daughter, Beatrice Vann, living at 6039 Chestnut avenue, Chicago. A wire was dispatched to her informing her of the death of her father.

The deceased man has been employed as a window washer for several years. A large bookcase full of religious books in his house and reports of friends that they had heard him preach indicated that he was at one time a minister.

Assistant Chief of Police Harry Fink, investigating the case, said that Haywood had been injured in a similar manner about a month ago when his bicycle ran head-on into a car.

CITE DRIVERS IN ACCIDENT

Ted Smith, 18, of 221 Seventh street, Huntington Beach, was slightly injured in a wreck at Huntington Beach boulevard and Talbert road early today which brought traffic citations to both drivers.

Smith told highway patrolmen that a truck with no lights suddenly loomed in front of him and his car collided with it head-on. The truck was driven by Joe Luna, route 5, box 500, Santa Ana.

Luna was given a ticket for driving without lights. Smith received a citation charging driving with no operator's license.

Cop Chases Midnight Bathers Home Without Their Clothing

NEWPORT - BALBOA.—Some-where in Southern California there is a party of young folks who went home without their clothes last night.

But is isn't as bad as it sounds. The young folks must have gone home in their bathing suits, because the police have their other clothes and intend to keep them.

It all happened in an area west of Balboa, where swimming is prohibited by city ordinance in the bay after midnight, so residents may get a few hours of sleep. An irate householder called police, complained of the noise, and a hunt for swimmers was started.

Finally an officer found the noisy swimmers. But they were in the water and he was on the sand, dressed in his best uniform. The water looked cold and the officer didn't want to go swimming any way, so he waited for awhile, but his victims refused to come ashore.

So he gathered up all available clothing, towels and other equipment, and went to call for a boat. When he came back the swimmers were gone.

If any of the night-time nators want their clothes, the police will be glad to turn them over, after a certain amount of talking before the judge.

Bee Keepers' Agreement Signed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt signed today a bill authorizing the secretary of agriculture to enter into marketing agreements with bee keepers.

William V. Russell, Westminster, was jailed on a charge of non-support of a minor child. His bail was set at $100 by acting Justice of the Peace Chris P. Pann.

A five-day sentence was begun by Doney Churn, 2541 Sutter street, San Francisco, after he pleaded guilty to a speeding charge in Orange.

Following the talk a band concert was enjoyed. The speaker was introduced by Walter Robb, who acted as master of ceremonies.

Canby was the fifth Orange county man this month to be arrested on sex crime charges.

Fuse Burns, Fire

COUNTY TO ASK U. S. AID FOR TRANSIENTS

Riley Home From Supervisors' Parley

Orange county will join with other counties of the state to demand that the federal government take care of the floating population, made up principally of transient labor.

This announcement was made today by Supervisor Harry D. Riley following his return yesterday afternoon from a conference at Bakersfield, called by Supervisor Herbert C. Legg, Los Angeles, chairman of the State Supervisors' association flood control and water conservation committee. Riley is a member of this committee of seven supervisors.

The program discussed at the emergency conference concerned ways and means of handling the transient problem in the state. Following long discussions, including the problem each county has to contend with, the supervisors and state officials who met with them agreed that they were up against a real problem.

WANT DEFINITE PROGRAM

Legg had conferred with M. R. Williams, assistant to National WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins, and learned that the federal government is not interested in California's transient problem unless the state works out a definite, comprehensive program.

Riley said the committee adopted a resolution asking the state relief commission and state department of agriculture to make a state-wide survey to determine the normal demand for labor in industry and agriculture in California, especially in agriculture, because this is where most of the floating labor population exists.

After the survey is completed and the normal demand for seasonal labor is determined, attempts will be made to work out a program of constructing comfortable, sanitary abodes in the various counties, including Orange county, for agricultural workers of the transient type.

Development of this program, Riley said, will eliminate the poor and unsanitary labor housing situation in the farming industry, and will tend toward stopping mounting relief costs.

In periods when the seasonal agricultural work is slack, water conservation and flood control programs will be worked out on which the transient workers can be employed, Riley said. These projects will be of such a nature that work can be carried on for comparatively short periods of time without harm to the project.

COUNTY DEEPLY CONCERNED

Riley said the federal government will cooperate if such a program is worked out. The supervisors delegated Harold Pomeroy, head of the state SRA, to conduct the survey on the labor and transient situation. When the survey is completed, a demand will be made of the federal government that it take care of the labor supply not normal to California. This is because of the great influx of workers from the Dust Bowl and other points east. Riley said Orange county is vitally concerned in this project.

The supervisors delegated Ernest L. Peterson, state relief commissioner, to inform the state relief commission of the action taken by the supervisors.

Attempts will be made, Riley said, to get the state and federal government to pay the costs of the proposed housing program. He said for $300 clean, comfortable houses can be built for a family of two, and that for $400 similar houses can be constructed for larger families.

The committee will meet again in about 10 days.

2 MEN PERISH IN SHED FIRE

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Two men, believed to be itinerant, were burned to death early today when fire destroyed a small shed near the Southern Pacific railroad station.

Officer J. Desmond said the men were burned beyond recognition and had apparently gone into the shed to sleep. The officer said one of them evidently went to sleep while smoking.

The bodies were found by firemen after the blaze had been extinguished. The fire for a time threatened a chemical company plant and several other buildings before brought under control.

Purchase of land for federal forests was first authorized in 1911.

Child Bride Prefers Doll

Little 11-year-old Mary Francis Grimes, shown with her gangling, 67-year-old cotton picker-husband, William H. Grimes, told authorities she didn't love her husband "nearly as much as my doll." The girl was held by juvenile authorities and her husband was put in jail until disposition of the case was decided by Poplar Bluffs, Mo., officials.

Scanty Styles Startle Even Stylists at Exhibition

PARIS. (AP)—Startled fashion experts today greeted an exhibition of styles for fall that was literally and frankly a revelation of how scanty clothes may be and still be clothes.

It was off with the old—unless it was very old—and on with the new—provided there was not too much of it. "Scant raiment" was officially the theme of the Schiaparelli show and one stylist, glancing pointedly at a daring decollete evening gown, summed up the trend:

"Primarily clothes have become an index to the beauty and vitality of the body."

Evening gowns were cut revealingly low in front or molded to the bust with startling frankness but there were other surprises even more exotic in a show that had for its keynote:

"Away with all inhibitions."

There were hats named "foolish virgin" and "suppressed desire," and there were hats of felt shaped like high-heeled shoes, turned upside down and cocked over milady's ear.

There were shoes that were actually worn as shoes—kid evening sandals tied on with wide ribbons that were carried up and up right to the knee.

Colors were riotous. One coat collar of silver fox had pink eyes and a cunning ribbon tied about its neck. Other furs were dyed crimson red and prickly pear green and there was a fur trimmed glove in 10 colors—a color for each finger.

Just for contrast there were styles from the days when grandmother was a girl, styles that brought wistful memories of the Victorian era and the mauve decade of the Gay Nineties with modifications of the hoop skirt and just a suggestion of a bustle.

The day silhouette was kept straight and narrow for suits and dresses but not as straight as one evening gown which fitted straight over the body like a tube.

One cocktail "gown" was a pair of bright red wool trousers to be worn with a lamb jacket.

COURT UPHOLDS L. B. PICKETS

LONG BEACH. (AP)—The Long Beach chief of police and city manager were under a temporary superior court order today enjoining them from enforcing the emergency anti-picketing ordinance adopted by the city council last week.

They were ordered to appear Aug. 12 and show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent.

C. H. Waggoner and James Blackburn, business manager, respectively, for the Automotive Maintenance and the Automotive Painters' unions, contended no emergency existed when the ordinance was adopted and that most of its provisions were covered by existing laws.

Purchase of land for federal forests was first authorized in 1911.

FINDS FAMILY MURDERED

PITTSBURGH. (AP)—Frank Gregor found the bullet-pierced bodies of his mother, two sisters and a brother in a bedroom of their west-end home today.

Homicide Detectives Fred Good and Edward Scanlon said they found a note signed by Bernard Gregor, 20, the brother, saying:

"Oh, if there were some way other than this out of our misery . . ."

Bernard lay near the bed, a rifle beside him. The sisters, Marian, 13, and Betty, 17, were sprawled close together, bullet wounds in their heads. They were in night clothing.

The body of Mrs. Anna Gregor, the mother, lay crumpled at the foot of the bed.

"At one time or other I've heard all these say something exactly like they wished they were dead. 'So maybe I am really right . . . There is absolutely nothing ahead . . ."

"I am the only one who knows what I intend to do. I told mother to have some kind of a will made out in case something would happen to her at any time."

'Coughs up' Cash to Pay Bill for Taxi

SAN DIEGO. (AP)—Lewis Spiker, 30-year-old sailor, was ordered by Municipal Judge Clarence Terry to "cough up" some of the money he swallowed last night in protest against arrest on a charge of evading taxi fare.

Spiker ran up a bill of $4.95 on a tour of the city. He refused to pay, although he had a $5 bill in his hand. When the police arrived he swallowed the bill. At the city jail he swallowed three more of the same denomination, he said.

Judge Terry fined him $10 on a drunk charge and suspended $25 more on condition he pay the taxi bill.

Girls Asked to Aid Men Propose

LONDON. (American Wire).—Girls should help men propose, Dr. T. Drummond Shields declared while discussing the art of courtship in the summer school of the British Social Hygiene council.

"A woman if she is attracted to a man, makes a point of being particularly disagreeable to him for fear that he should think she is running after him," he said.

"A little more frankness and honesty on the part of the girl would make the course of true love run more smoothly."

FARM INCOME OUTLOOK GOOD

LOS ANGELES.—At the peak of the harvest season the outlook for California farm income remains favorable, according to report submitted here today to the board of directors of the California state chamber of commerce by Vice President Preston Hotchkis.

The economic review presented by Hotchkis was prepared by the research department of the state chamber. In addition to current economic conditions, the report shows that employment for the first six months of this year increased 11 per cent over the corresponding period last year, and payrolls improved 24 per cent.

According to available statistics and reports, business in California showed improvement during July after a minor recession in May and June. Prospects for farm income remain favorable. Recent weather, on the whole, was favorable for the growth and ripening of all crops and harvesting grains and fruits.

News Says Farley Offered Auto Job

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—The Buffalo Evening News said today Postmaster Gen. James A. Farley had been invited to "head the sales organization or possibly become the executive head" of the Pierce-Arrow Motor corporation.

No official of the motor company, whose main office is here, could be reached for comment.

The News said Farley commented, in Washington, that the matter had been put up to him, but had refused to confirm or deny the report.

RETAIL TRADE SHOWS GAINS

NEW YORK. (AP)—With hot weather spurring demand for summer goods retail trade volume established further gains in many areas during the past week, Dun & Bradstreet said today in their weekly review.

All leading centers of distribution reported larger sales than for the week preceding, the gains ranging from 3 to 8 per cent. The review noted, however, that except in those districts where buying was brought to a standstill by last summer's drought, there was little improvement over the previous year's total.

The estimated volume of retail distribution for the country as a whole was estimated at from 8 to 20 per cent larger than for the corresponding week last year.

"Summer clearance sales and August promotional events, joined to incite consumer interest in a wide range of merchandise," said the summary.

"Fall market week assemblies brought more activity to wholesale centers with commitments outstandingly generous in districts adjoining the agricultural areas."

"Emerging from the shortest period of summer recession in years, additional industries advanced operating rates while others maintained previous high schedules to build up stocks."

Hurling Bottles From Bridge at Navy Attacked

SAN FRANCISCO. (American Wire).—Persons who throw or drop objects from the arch of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridge at vessels passing beneath were the object of naval ire recently, when a sailor aboard the destroyer Preston wrote his protest to the San Francisco Examiner.

"People seem to take a fiendish glee in dropping pop bottles, rocks, sticks or what have you at ships passing under the bridge," the letter said. "Apparently they are trying to make a bull's-eye by dropping the objects in the stacks, but they do not know how close they have come to being murdered by these actions."

The bridge patrol has been cautioned to watch out for such persons and to arrest them upon apprehension of such practices.

Townsend News, Views

By
WALTER R. ROBB

The writer apologizes to Santa Ana club No. 11 for having announced its meeting tonight as being in its usual meeting place, the Franklin school. Mrs. E. G. Best, 315 North Tustin avenue, has since telephoned the writer that the meeting will be at the Best home, at above address. She says that the club is going to enjoy a watermelon feed and that plenty of entertainment in addition will be featured during the evening. If there are those who have no transportation, telephone 3499-W and it will be provided.

A letter reaching the writer since yesterday's column was written says Santa Ana club No. 10 is meeting tonight at 7:30 in the Unitarian church, Eighth and Bush streets, with R. E. Marks presiding. L. C. Carlisle will address the assembly on a timely Townsend subject.

The Orange County Townsend Club Officers association met in a lively and interesting meeting Wednesday in Santa Ana Townsend hall. W. A. Zimmermann, Santa Ana, presided. Considerable business was transacted, including the raising of sufficient money to finish paying some old obligations. This puts the association in the black with all bills paid and money in the treasury. Considerable enthusiasm was evidenced concerning the future of the movement.

The time is rapidly approaching when 65-year-old California citizens who have been or will be approved as eligible for the benefits under the state aged assistance act will have their monthly benefits increased to a maximum of $55 per month with the privilege added of earning an additional $15 if the opportunity offers. It was the Townsend organization in California which crystallized sentiment that resulted in increased benefits which the old people will receive.

The following resolution was passed by the Orange County Townsend club officers association Wednesday evening: "Resolved by the Orange County Townsend Club Officers association that Walter R. Robb, Townsend news reporter, include in his column in the near future a resume of Congressman Martin F. Smith's speech as delivered in congress on the Townsend plan as included in the Congressional Record of date July 15, 1937. Passed while in regular monthly session on this 4th day of August, 1937. (Signed) W. A. ZIMMERMAN, President. LOTTIE PICKERING, Secretary.

The writer comments on the above by saying that he will endeavor to carry out the desire of the association as expressed in the above resolution. However, the speech was quite lengthy and therefore it will be possible only to give the most important portions of it. As soon as space available after printing current happenings is sufficient he will begin to quote from the speech. The writer wishes to point out, however, that the speech was not delivered in congress as presumed but in the Old South church, Boston, on March 14, 1937.

Ice Cream Eating Record in State

SACRAMENTO. — Californians are joining with the ice cream eaters of the other states to re-establish the ice cream eating record of 1929, according to figures received by the dairy service, California department of agriculture. In California the per capita consumption of ice cream last year was slightly more than two and a half gallons which was still well under the peak of 3.23 gallons consumed per capita in California in 1929.

However, the 1936 figure shows a half gallon increase per capita over 1935 which translated into dishes means that each person ate 16 more dishes of ice cream in 1936 than was eaten by the same person the year before.

It's Windsor Street — 'Just Because'

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Residents on the three-block stretch called Simpson street petitioned city councilmen to change the name of their thoroughfare to Windsor street "just because."

When the council got the petition for five minutes. Some of the petitioners told the council the duke and duchess of Windsor gave them the idea. They thought the new name would attract people. Others thought it "nonsense" and "foolish" but the council ordered a resolution drawn changing the name.

NOTES BRING SEARCH FOR KIDNAPER

Weldon Canyon Area Hunt Is Fruitless

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Search of rugged Weldon canyon for a possible kidnaper's hideout proved fruitless yesterday.

Basing their investigation on two cryptic notes, which indicated a young girl might be held captive in the Ridge Route area, sheriff's deputies went to the canyon yesterday.

First of the notes, found last Friday, was addressed to "Mr. Adams, San Diego." It read:

"Do not try to find your child, if you want to see her alive. You will find the ransom note three feet from the post under a rock by the dark road."

Three rudely drawn circles were the only signature.

The second message, on similar paper, was picked up in the same canyon locality yesterday.

"Help," it read. "They have me. They are killing me. Doris."

Capt. W. J. Penprase admitted there was the possibility of a hoax, but asked San Diego authorities to attempt to locate "Mr. Adams."

Increasing traffic fatalities among pedestrians at night are revealed by traffic accident surveys collected by the California State Auto association.

One study gave the night pedestrian hazard as 63 per cent greater than the daytime. The survey showed that of traffic deaths involving pedestrians over 50 years old, 82 per cent occurred in dusk or darkness.

Loses Reprieve Won by Singing

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—James "Ironhead" Baker, who sang his way out of the Texas penitentiary, is back inside its walls.

Gov. James V. Allred, impressed with the negro's ability to sing folk songs, granted him a reprieve last year from a life sentence for habitual burglary so he could accompany John A. Lomax, curator of folk songs for the Library of Congress, on a tour.

When the tour ended he worked at several jobs, he says, but easier money beckoned.

After Baker was charged with burglarizing several Austin residences, the governor revoked his furlough.

DOWN ON THE RUSSIAN FARM HEN HOUSE IS A 'FACTORY'

3—HATCHING OUT

4—SOVIET CHICK—ONE DAY OLD

By the AP Feature Service

Russian leaders ran into one of their biggest worries when they tried to apply mass production technique to agriculture. But farmers finally were persuaded—some of them forcefully—to swing into line. These new pictures show how the idea has been applied to chicken farming. They were made at a government farm in Crimea, where 100,000 laying hens produced 12,000,000 eggs a year for the market. Just to keep things going nicely, the incubators are ready every year with 300,000 new volunteers for the flock. The predominating breed is White Leghorn. Take a look at big farm business in the Soviet.

Seven new birds recently were added to Death Valley's ornithological list which already numbered some 130 species. One is known as the marbled godwit.

Silent Army Stops Troops; 'Keep Out' Signs Effective

SAN LUIS OBISPO. (AP)—There is a standing army of silent sentinels deployed through battle-ground of the army practice combat zone here against which powerful units, highest officers and the most aggressive assault troops are helpless and which stops even tanks.

These sentinels are several thousand posts topped with signs reading "Troops Keep Out."

Much of the four days "war," starting with a Monday dawn attack and involving 12,000 troops, will be over private property in the central California coastal area. The rent and claims department of what is known as the "fourth army" spent weeks before the troops reached the combat zone, renting ground from ranchers and making agreements. But there are patches of cultivated fields of beets, beans, tomatoes, broccoli and other foodstuffs in the combat zone. These patches and residential areas are "off limits" and the signs are posted about them.

Another unusual handicap attacking and retreating forces will face is the obstacle of gates and fences. They must open and close all gates to private property, immediately repair fences and prevent domestic animals from straying beyond regular confines, thus

SHEET EROSION LIKE THIEF

When a field or orchard is being robbed by sheet erosion, the theft may go on for years without a farmer knowing it, says Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg.

"Erosion which carves deep gulches is pretty obvious," says he, "but soil conservation workers and farmers who are close observers know that sheet erosion works so slowly and quietly that it may not be evident until often too late."

If a farmer looks at his rolling hillside fields or orchard from a distance and sees light-colored knolls in dark-colored areas or if the color of a sloping field fades to a light tan or grey as his eye travels up the slope, he is seeing the results of sheet erosion, which strips thin layers of topsoil a little at a time, according to Wahlberg.

"This same test can be made later on after crops are growing. Crops may be making fine growth on the lower parts of a field, but up above, where sheet erosion has been at work, the stand is thinner and trees or plants are not doing so well."

"Although Orange county is in a semi-arid region, winter storms are heavy enough and frequent enough," says Wahlberg, "to cause substantial soil losses. Close observation during casual trips throughout almost any part of the county where sloping land is farmed, will disclose the work of sheet erosion."

"Permanent fertility and economic farm operations can only be maintained by stopping the annual soil losses due to erosion. The Federal government, realizing the tremendous losses occurring from erosions has established two erosion demonstration areas in Orange county, one at El Toro and another at La Habra. Control practices are performed on these areas to demonstrate soil conservation methods to local farmers and property owners," he stated.

Growers interested in control methods will be shown over these projects by members of the soil conservation service, city hall, or the farm advisor's office at Santa Ana.

Austria and Bulgaria were the only countries where costs remained the same.

Father and Daughter Reunited

This happy reunion took place in Chicago Superior court when John M. Hayes, wealthy New Jersey sportsman, filed a petition for a habeas corpus writ in an effort to regain custody of his daughter, Patricia Ann, 28 months old. They were together for the first time since Hayes was arrested for child stealing.

Developing Super-Men With Diet Studied by Dr. Carrel

By CLARK SQUIRE

American Wire Correspondent
Super-men by means of special diet!

Will such a dream ever be realized? Can men of science some day produce a superior race through feeding individuals from childhood certain foods?

The subject has attracted some of the best medical minds in the world. Dr. Alexis Carrel, of the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research, famous surgeon, has given it much study.

"Man is literally made from the dust of the earth," he asserted. "For this reason his physiological and mental activities are profoundly influenced by the geological constitution of the country where he lives, by the nature of the animals and plants on which he generally feeds. His structure and his functions depend also on the selection he makes of certain elements among the vegetables and animal foods at his disposal."

EARLY TRIBAL PRACTICES

Dr. Carrel points out that early tribes had special kinds of diet for persons of different rank. Chiefs consumed food far different from that given the slaves. The fighters and directing groups ate meats and fermented drinks. Those who were peaceful, weak, submissive were satisfied with milk, vegetables, fruits and cereals.

The noted biologist admits the effect of chemical compounds, as found in food, upon physiological and mental activities is far from being thoroughly known.

He says the opinion of medical experts on this subject is of little value. Experiments have not been conducted long enough to establish what influence any particular diet may have upon a person. However, he says there is no doubt that the quality and quantity of food does have some effect on consciousness.

"We have to discover what food is suitable for human beings vegetating in offices and factories; what chemical substances could give intelligence, courage and alertness to the inhabitants of the new city," he says. "The race will certainly not be improved merely by supplying children and adolescents with a great abundance of milk, cream and all known vitamins."

MIND MOST IMPORTANT

Dr. Carrel believes it is far more important to seek compounds which would provide nervous strength and mental agility rather than uselessly increasing the size and weight of the skeleton and muscles.

"Perhaps some day a scientist will discover how to manufacture great men from ordinary children, in the same manner that bees transform a common larva into a queen by the special food which they know how to prepare," he says in his book, "Man, the Unknown."

"But it is probable that no chemical agent alone is capable of greatly improving the individual. We must assume that the superiority of any organic and mental form is due to a combination of hereditary and developmental conditions, and that, during development, chemical factors are not to be separated from psychological and functional factors."

And while thus speculating on what some future scientist may find, Dr. Carrel says further:

"Our aptitudes and our destiny come, in some measure, from the nature of the chemical substances that construct our tissues."

"It seems as though human beings, like animals, could be artificially given certain bodily and mental characteristics if subjected from childhood to appropriate diets."

CHICAGO CUBS' LEAD CUT TO FIVE GAMES

SPORTS Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK. (AP)—No American league batter hit for the cycle (single, double, triple and home run) in 1936. Three have done it this year—Gerald Walker, Joe DiMaggio and Lou Gehrig. Just to make it look good, DiMaggio contributed a second homer.

Big Ten coaches expect Harry Stuhldreher's Wisconsin eleven to lose a few bombshells this season.

Well, the yatching races are over and how is your starboard tack? . . . Mike Jacobs' wife gave him merry "L" for taking over the Garden . . . said he has been working too hard, anyway . . . Mike was afraid to go home after signing the lease.

New York baseball writers with the Giants were back Bill Terry has given up on Memphis Lou Chiozza and is eyeing Joe Stripp of the Dodgers as his 1938 third-sacker.

Don't go to pitying Jimmy Johnston for losing out at the Garden . . . The guy is likely to wind up as director of sports for the forthcoming world's fair—the job was slated to go to the late Jack Curley.

So far the Yankees have belted 126 home runs, of which 76 were contributed by Messrs. DiMaggio, Gehrig and Mickey. . . . What are you going to do with a team like that?

The Cardiff Western Mail, leading newspaper of Wales, has shipped a large Welsh flag to Tommy Farr and it will fly from his corner when he goes against Joe Louis.

Ask Blondy Ryan of the Giants about some screwy base running he did in a recent game at Minneapolis. . . . He tried for second on a Texas Leaguer, found the there ahead of him, ran around the bag and finally ducked back to first. The fine President Will Harridge plastered on Bill Dickey, the Yanks, was Bill's first since he socked Carl Reynolds in the kisser down at Washington a few years back.

Anything can happen at Minnesota. . . . Victory for Alvin Karpis, last year's fullback, will blossom out as a quarterback this year.

Five years ago — James A. Bausch won decathlon championship at Los Angeles Olympics.

PETE COSCARART OF PORTLAND SOLD TO BROOKLYN DODGERS

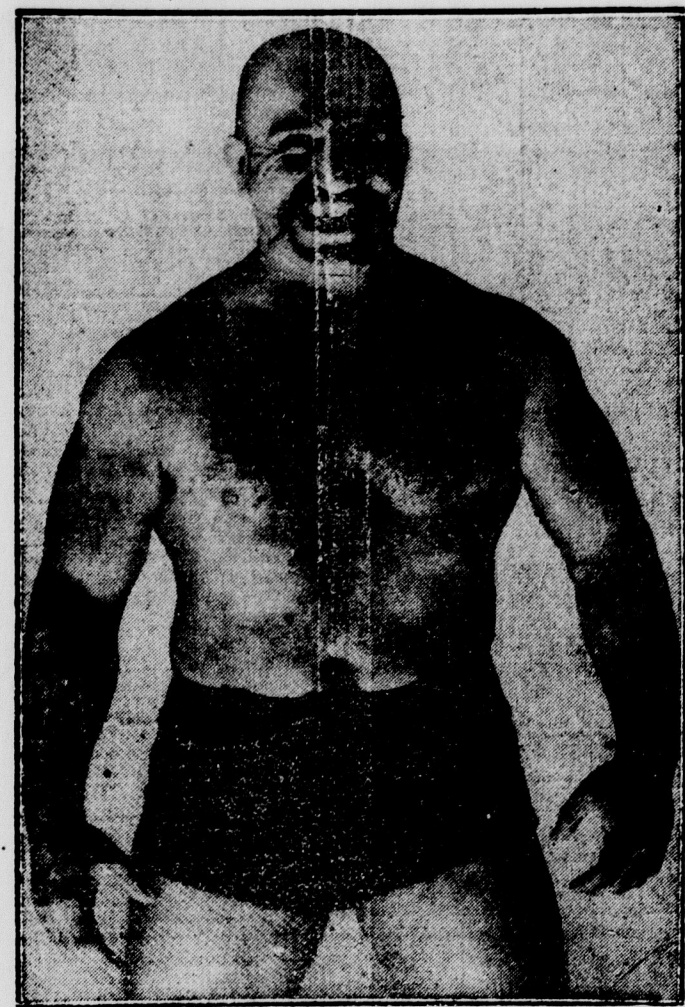

San Francisco's Seals were back in third place in the Pacific Coast league baseball race today, after frustrating Sacramento's efforts to give them their third licking in as many days by staging a four-run uprising in the last half of the ninth to win 6 to 5.

San Diego increased its lead by defeating Portland 4 to 1, and pushed the Beavers back into fourth place after a 24-hour stay in the third spot. Oakland continued to win ball games by trimming Los Angeles 4 to 1, and Seattle turned on the Missions to win, 5 to 1.

The Portland management announced after the game last night Pete Coscarart, star second baseman of the Beavers, had become property of the Brooklyn Dodgers, but would remain with the Pacific Coast league outfit for the balance of the season. Terms were not revealed.

Oakland took a two-to-one lead in its series with Los Angeles. Padre batsmen had a hitting picnic at Portland, nicking three Beaver pitchers for 16 safeties.

Children, Run For The Storm Cellars

Here is the Turkish terror, Ali Baba, onetime world's heavyweight wrestling champion, who makes his second appearance at the Orange County Athletic club next Monday night. The "Terrible Turk," who mauled Leo Numa here last week, faces Kiman Kudo, 175-pound Japanese wizard, in his second match here.

KIMAN KUDO MAY EXTEND ALI BABA HERE MONDAY

The mighty Ali Baba, bald-pated, scowling Kurd, who won the world championship from Dick Skikat last year, only to lose it on a foul to Dave Levin, may find his super-strength of no material advantage at the Orange County Athletic club Monday night when he tangles with the 178-pound Japanese champion, Kiman Kudo, and his jujitsu. At least this is the opinion of many fans in this section as attempts are made to forecast the outcome of a match that has practically every follower of the sport hereabouts discussing it.

Monday night's program also features the most colorful and scientific girl wrestler in the world, pretty Clara Mortensen, who will risk her title in a match against Rita Martinez.

Hans Steinke and Indian Jukes Strongbow, two of the biggest matmen hereabouts, clash in the secondary feature of the five-bout card. Other matches show Jack McArthur vs. Ignacio Martinez and Bobby Coleman vs. Young Stecher.

Ocean Fishing

By EARL WILCOX (Western Auto Supply)

NEWPORT — BALBOA — Reports from this port are scarce this week. From all indications the fishing on the live bait boats is only fair. The California barge reports barracuda, white sea bass, bonito and halibut are being taken by the fishermen aboard.

SAN CLEMENTE and OCEANSIDE—This week has brought plenty of bass, barracuda, white sea bass and yellowtail to the fishermen on the live bait boats.

GIANTS STOP REDS, 2-0

Phillies' Ball Park Becoming Unpopular With N. L. Pitchers

By SID FEDER Associated Press Sports Writer

Ask any National league pitcher to describe an egg crate, and he answers, nine times out of ten, the Phillies ball park. "You can stand at home plate in that shoebox," is the general reply, "and pretty near throw a grand piano over that short right field wall. The boundaries are so close, that when you get up there to pitch, you haven't got room for your windup. Any pitcher who gets past a game there, deserves the congressional medal."

That's the reason the Phils are playing cellar ball at home in the National league, and show nearly a first division record on the road. It also explains why the loop's pitchers would rather take a salary cut than work in Baker bowl. The Giants and Cardinals are crying for fingers with their stuff, but with the Phils, because of that 280-foot right field home run target, they're as wasted as a bet on a long shot against War Admiral.

In the 10 games they played on their current road trip, the Phils won six. They're the first outfit to take two in a row from the league-leading Cubs since June 26. Lanaster started it against the pace-setters in Chicago with a seven-hit Wednesday. Yesterday Walters tied the Cub bats in knots, allowed just four hits and finished on top, 4-2, to make his season record nine victories and four losses away from home. Compounded to three wins and six setbacks in Philadelphia.

Yesterday's whipping cut the Cubs' lead to five games as the second-place Giants outlasted the Cincinnati Reds to take a 2-0 decision in 12 innings. Clyde Castleman, just out of the hospital and still suffering from the back ailment that put him there three weeks ago, allowed eight hits to best Lefty Lee Grissom in a close one.

Iron-horse Lou Gehrig found the range with a pair of homers, and the Yankees swept their four-game series with the White Sox and stretched their American league lead to nine full games with a 13-8 decision.

ell was sent to the hospital after being tagged by one of Monte Stratton's fast ones. The Red Sox staggered through with a 5-4 edge over the Indians, thereby extending their streak to 10 games without a loss. Hank Greenberg's homer gave the Tigers a 5-3 win over the Athletics. The Browns belted the Senators, 7-4.

Brooklyn's Dodgers made it two in a row over the Pirates by a 9-6 margin. Danny MacFayden, tight in the pinches, pitched the Bees to a 4-1 win over the Cardinals.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By the Associated Press)

LOU GEHRIG, Yankees—Hit two homers, driving in five runs in 12-8 win over White Sox. BUCKY WALTERS, Phillies—Stopped Cubs 4-2 with four hits. BUCK NEWSOM, Red Sox—Fanned five and allowed eight hits in beating Indians, 5-4. VINCE DIMAGGIO, Bees—Hit homer, single and scored three runs in 4-1 win over Cardinals.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK. (AP)—Late selling in today's stock market knocked down leaders fractions to 2 points. There were a few wider setbacks. Pivotal steels, rails, utilities, farm implements and rubbers were among the principal sufferers. At the same time offerings were far from voluminous.

Selected mining issues and specialties managed to buck the trend. Rising metal prices both here and abroad stimulated the former, and actual and prospective company profits brought support for the latter.

There was little in the news to inspire liquidation, brokers said, but notable inability of the market's bellwethers to make headway in the past few sessions tended to discourage trading forces.

ZIONCHECK'S WIDOW GOES HUNTING

Takes Pot Shot at Prowler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Ruby Zioncheck, widow of the late congressman from Washington, called police early today and reported the presence of a prowler in the yard. Officers answered the call, searched the grounds thoroughly and found no evidence of the prowler.

About two hours later the Hollywood police station received a call that there had been a shooting at the place, the home of Miss Page Ayres, Mrs. Zioncheck's aunt, with whom she is staying.

The officers rushed back, gun in hand. Mrs. Zioncheck stood looking at a neat hole she had made in a window blind when she shot at what she said was the prowler returned.

Another careful search by the police produced no signs of anybody sniping around the house. Mrs. Zioncheck is living here under the name of Lynn Melton. She has motion picture aspirations.

POWELL, YANKS, IS 'BEANED'

NEW YORK. (AP)—Outfielder Alvin (Jake) Powell sported a badly damaged left ear today but said he was ready to get back into the New York Yankee lineup at once. Chances are he will be out a few days, however.

A wild pitch delivered by Monte Stratton of the Chicago White Sox "beamed" Powell flush on the ear yesterday. He had his wounds dressed in a hospital but returned to see the finish of the game.

Field of 180 Vies In Amateur Golf, Including Fischer

NEW YORK. (AP)—An entry list of 180 players picked to rough their performances in sectional qualifying tests a few weeks ago was announced today by the United States Golf association for the forty-first National Amateur championship, to be played at the Alderwood club, Portland, Ore., Aug. 22-28.

The group which will compete in the qualifying round the first day reads like a "blue book" of American amateur golf.

Starting with defending champion Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, who conquered Scotland's Jock McLean in last year's stormy final, the entries include seven of the last eight in the 1936 tourney.

Riggs, Hendrix and Surface Survive

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y. (AP)—Three "trookies" of big time tennis enter the semi-final round of the Meadowbrook club's 47th invitational tournament today.

With Bobby Riggs of Los Angeles, Hal Surface of Kansas City and Arthur Hendrix of Lakeland, Fla., in the penultimate round is Jiro Yamagishi, the wily Japanese Davis Cup star.

Three year ago—Ben Eastman, running in Oslo, broke 500-meter record turning 1:10.2.

GERTRUDE EDERLE, 30, CROSSED CHANNEL 11 YRS. AGO TODAY

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y. (AP)—The page one streamers said: "Trudy Swims Channel."

That was 11 years ago today—and today Gertrude Ederle sat on the little porch of her home as some of those who remembered came by and said hello.

She said she might go into the water later in the day. "Not for a swim," she explained. "I don't go swimming any more; I go bathing."

She laughed when she said it. She's got just as good a laugh now as she had 11 years ago and she still can laugh at the fortune she brushed right past without recognizing.

It was C. C. (Cash and Carry) Pyle who said, after the ticker tape parade up Broadway and before her vaudeville tour, "I could've made her a million."

"You know," she said, "I didn't even endorse many things. I had the chance at a couple of cigars, but I don't smoke."

She still keeps "in condition," even though it was only recently after months of suffering, that she came out of a plaster cast. She had hurt her back in a fall. She doesn't appear to weigh an ounce over what she did when she was the champion of woman swimmers.

MANILA RAINS BRING DEATH TO THIRTY

Many Missing After Two Weeks of Storm

MANILA. (AP)—Thirty persons were known to be dead and many were missing today after a fortnight of torrential rains and floods in several provinces.

A landslide on Pamlasan mountain in Zamboanga province killed five and others were feared to have lost their lives. Loosed by heavy rains, the avalanche was believed to have entombed many men working in a copper mine.

Despite receding waters as rains ceased, transportation was disrupted in several flooded provinces.

DEVELOP BABY WIREPHOTO SET

NEW YORK. (AP)—Development of a wirephoto receiving set 40 inches high—about the size of a radio cabinet—was announced today by the Associated Press.

The newest technical step forward in the science of transmitting pictures by wire, was conceived and built by Associated Press technicians under the direction of W. J. McCambridge, assistant general manager, and H. M. Biele, chief engineer.

The machine has been fully tested and will be put into operation immediately, McCambridge said.

He pictured the new receiver as a development comparable to the introduction more than a year ago, of the portable wirephoto transmitter, which doubled Associated Press picture coverage by wire at the time. Twenty-eight portables are now used in the nation.

Like the portable transmitter, the receiver will operate on any telephone circuit and on any available electric current.

The radical design of the receiver makes possible its small size and the elimination of the control "bay."

McCambridge said that quality of pictures received in tests compares favorably with the regular wirephotos received on the large stationary machines—with certain advantages in favor of the smaller machine.

or a double truck when needed may be delivered under the new setup to member papers participating. The time consumed in transmission of any picture when the rearrangement is effected will be eight minutes. Scanning lines are imperceptible to the eye even in the largest double page pictures.

The new receiver doubles the field of wirephoto, since it may be installed in cities connected with the wirephoto network through telephone call operation.

JAPAN FORGES AN EMPIRE WITHOUT RESORT TO 'WAR'

By WILLIAM MCGAFFIN

AP Feature Service Writer
Japanese shells whistle over Peiping, China—and worried world leaders wonder if land-hungry Nippon has started a new thrust for empire.

True, there was no declaration of war. Just a sham battle that turned suddenly into a real one. But then, with few exceptions, Japan has never had to declare war to win her aims.

It took a war with Russia in 1904-5 to clear the way for Japan to acquire Korea. Russia had been her rival for "spheres of influence" in that country and adjacent areas. With the Czar's power in the Orient broken there was none to stop the Nipponese absorption of the "hermit kingdom."

MANCHURIA TAKEN IN 1931
The Korean annexation which became effective in 1910 gave the Japanese a footing on the mainland—and the march of empire had begun.

In 1931 Manchuria was the victim. First, economic penetration paved the way. Then Japan attacked Chinese troops after accusing them of cutting the southern Manchurian railway. "Thus the art of making war without declaring it was born. The city of Mukden was occupied September 18, 1931. "Young Marshal" Chang, Manchuria's war lord, was deposed and a new nation, named Manchoukuo, was set up. Henry Pu-Yi, erstwhile "Boy Emperor of China" and now Emperor Kang Teh, was made ruler of the puppet state.

Many Chinese still blame But-terfly Wu, a motion picture star, for Manchuria's downfall. Chang was reported to be with her in Peiping at the time of the Mukden clash.

FUSE TO SHANGHAI ATTACK
The Manchurian coup led to the League of Nations after a league investigating committee upheld China's protests. Japan announced herself the guardian of the peace of the Far East, refused to give up her mandates over a group of Pacific islands which she got from Germany after the World war, and denounced the 5-5-3 naval ratio treaty with Great Britain and America, claiming instead the right of naval equality.

The Manchurian coup, too was the fuse which fired the famous Shanghai incident in 1932. Although the attack on Shanghai was one of the most spectacular moves Japan ever made, it was a punitive rather than a land-grabbing expedition.

Angry over the loss of Man-

MARCH OF EMPIRE—Japan got Formosa out of the Chino-Japanese war of 1894-95, the Kwantung peninsula and Korea from the Russo-Japanese war of 1904-5, then wrung Manchoukuo and Jehol from China by wars in fact but not in name. Now she has launched an attack on Peiping and experts believe her ultimate goal is the five northern provinces shown on map.

churia, Chinese in Shanghai had boycotted Japanese goods. Several Japanese died in street fighting. So Japan plunged into another undeclared war to teach China a lesson.

Japanese bluejackets led a surprise attack on the Chinese quarter of the city Jan. 28, 1932. But Chinese resistance was so stiff the Japanese army had to aid the navy. Bombs were dropped by the plane load. An armistice finally was signed May 5, ending one material gain.

It was a more profitable adventure in February, 1933. On a "bandit hunt" Japanese and Manchoukuo soldiers swept across the province of Jehol and added it to Kang Teh's realm.

Chinese bandits were again the whipping boys when Japan started another sweep westward in April, 1935, this time with the north China province of Chahar as the goal.

More force was used in 1936, along with the subtler weapons of economics and politics. Home rule movements began in Chahar and four adjoining provinces—Shantung, Suiyuan, Shanai and Hopei—but have been only partly successful.

Now comes the drive on Peiping, principal city of Hopei. Japan, experts have said, will not rest until it brings all of the five northern provinces under its control. There's a long way to go yet.

VICTORY MARCH—Japanese soldiers march down the southern Manchurian railroad after a victorious battle with the Chinese in 1931.

PLANES BOMB TWO SHIPS NEAR ALGERIA

British, Italian Foreigners Attacked

LONDON. (AP)—Lloyds, the British underwriters, reported from Gibraltar today that an Italian and a British steamer had been bombed by warplanes at almost the same spot off the coast of Algeria, near war-torn Spain.

The British tanker British Corporal flashed an SOS that she was being bombed, later cancelled it, and steamed into Algiers, 30 miles southeast. Her crew of 43 was safe and her wireless receiver, which she had reported smashed, was repaired.

A few hours later, Lloyds said the Italian steamer Mongioia dispatched an SOS saying that she was being bombed from the air. The ship, of 6113 tons, was bound from Genoa to New Orleans.

The first flash from the 440-foot Corporal, en route from the port of Abadan in the Persian gulf to Land's End, England, said, "We are being bombed . . . hurry!"

In neither case was the aerial attacker identified. The British Corporal's owners were advised by Algiers that "three monoplane" nationality untested, bombed her for an hour. But there were no casualties and the gasoline-laden ship was but slightly damaged.

The monoplane bombed the tanker from 5:20 a. m. to 6:15 a. m., dropping 40 projectiles. None of them made a direct hit, but the wireless apparatus was damaged by concussion and the tanker was sprayed with shrapnel.

Then when the crew tried to take to the boats, the planes sprayed the decks with machine gun fire.

Beyond the SOS, nothing was heard from the Italian ship for several hours.

Both Spanish government and insurgent planes are based within striking distance of the scene of the bombings.

Home Service Tap Dance to Add to Your Popularity

You Can Teach Yourself

"Fun to watch Kit tap dance," you say from the side-lines. But what about you? Why don't you share the spotlight—learn to tap dance by teaching yourself at home?

Those rhythms Kit taps out so gaily call for only a few fundamental steps that you can easily learn. To make the tap sounds you use your feet in these four ways: (1) you strike the floor with the ball of the foot only; (2) you strike with the heel only; (3) with the tip of the toe; (4) with the whole foot.

Simple, and fun to fit these tap sounds to your favorite dance tune. Add as you go along such lively steps as the "strut." Push the ball of the left foot against the floor, swing the right arm forward, the left arm backward; do the opposite with the right foot. Our 32-page booklet clearly explains and diagrams tap steps; gives easy practice routine; full length waltz, military, and buck routines for entertaining.

Send 10c for your copy of Tap Dancing Simplified to The Journal, Home Service, 117 East Fifth Street, Santa Ana. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

800 Hear NYA Symphonic Band

A capacity crowd of about 800 persons gathered last night in Birch park to hear the weekly band concert given by the NYA Symphonic band under the direction of T. Dunstan Collins, with Miss Evelyn Rhodes, Garden Grove, as guest soloist.

Miss Rhodes, who has appeared this season as a vocalist in Hollywood bowl, sang two selections. Other guest attractions scheduled to appear with the band are the accordion band, returning for a second performance next Thursday, and a program by Kathryn Brooks, recreational director of the Santa Ana drama, arts and crafts group for Aug. 19.

Burglars Visit Vegetable Stand

A burglary of his vegetable stand at Santa Ana boulevard and Flower street, today was reported to police by Claudine Minter. The padlock on the rear door of the stand had been broken off, Minter said, and several items including a hose, butcher knife, melons and mirror had been stolen. Minter estimated his loss at $7.50.

JUDGE FINES PASTOR $2

The Rev. Henry G. Schmelzer, 118 North Emily street, Anaheim, made no protest when he was hauled into police court yesterday on a charge of running through a boulevard stop sign, and his visit cost him $2.

Frank Pellman, a transient arrested on a charge of vagrancy, pleaded guilty and was given a 30-day suspended sentence provided he leave the city and county immediately.

W. Craig, 1325 Durant street, and William Caseras, box 595, Garden Grove, were fined $2 each for violating a boulevard stop sign. William E. Egan, Garden Grove, paid a $1 fine for backing around a corner, and W. G. Cunningham, $1 for overtime parking.

Common Sense Hits China's Blind

NANKING, China. (AP)—China's hundreds of thousands of blind men are waging a losing battle against the new "rule of common sense," which is depriving them of their livelihood.

Institutions for the blind were unnecessary in old China, at least for blind men. Tradition gave them a virtual monopoly over fortune-telling.

A decade ago Nationalism proclaimed the end of superstition, but did little to enforce it. Now aggressive Canton has instructed police to prohibit fortune-telling. Hundreds of soothsayers have united in a petition to stay execution of a law that would reduce them to the state of beggars, so far without success.

Chinese Bus Uses Vegetable Oil for Fuel With Success

KUMMING, China. (American Wire)—A Chinese-made motor bus has successfully completed a run of 2000 miles from Shanghai using vegetable oil as fuel.

The trip was declared a successful test of a fuel needed to substitute for imported gasoline which is costly and might not be available in time of war.

The vegetable fuel oil cuts costs 86 per cent. The bus made six to seven miles on a gallon of the new fuel at an average speed of 40 miles an hour. The machine showed excellent mountain-climbing ability. Only two gallons of lubricating oil were used on the trip.

Various types of vegetable oils were tried out during the trip. Oil from peanuts, tea, tung, poppy, cabbage seeds and cotton seeds was tried. Tung oil, one of China's principal exports, was found to generate the most power, but it also showed a tendency to foul the motor.

Engines to use vegetable oil are more costly to build than the ordinary gasoline type, but officials believe the vegetable oil machines will prove less expensive in the long run.

QUALITY FRUIT HOLDS PRICE CHECK SHOWS

Agricultural Expert
Back From Trip East

SACRAMENTO.—Quality fruit, well packed, honestly marked and delivered in first class condition, brings higher prices in Eastern markets than fruit of doubtful quality, badly packed, dishonestly marked and delivered in poor condition. Buyers are fully aware of the tricks and devices sometimes employed to deceive them as to the condition and quality of fruits for sale but once a brand has been established over a satisfactory period on a basis of high quality and uniform packing, buyers readily accept fruit of that brand practically at face value.

Those are among the more important of conclusions reached by H. W. Poulsen, assistant chief of the bureau of fruit and vegetable standardization, California department of agriculture, who has just returned from a survey of California fruits arriving in Eastern markets.

CHECK STATE FRUIT
Inspecting fruit shipped from California and arriving in Pittsburgh, Chicago, Philadelphia and New York, the California official made a special point to determine if California citrus fruit was arriving in first class condition in view of extensive damage to the crop by heavy frosts early in the year.

Buyers and representatives of fruit auctions told him, Mr. Poulsen said, that California citrus fruit shipped to them had shown less damage following the very severe frost than had been the case following frosts in former years. When shipments began rolling buyers were doubtful of the quality of California citrus fruit, he was informed, but when the fruit arrived in first class condition with a minimum of frost damage the buyers' faith was restored and confidence in California citrus fruits was maintained.

ENFORCEMENT
"Enforcement of the fruit standardization laws may have appeared very strict at home," said Poulsen, "especially to those ranchers and packing house managers who saw much of their crops reconditioned or inspected. However, if ranchers could have been on the other end of the orange deal, I am sure they would have agreed heartily that standardization law enforcement was not too severe when the high stakes were considered."

"It was of vital importance that citrus from California arrive in the east in splendid condition, free of frost damage. If frozen citrus had been permitted to be shipped, the orange market would have vanished and in these days of keen competition among fruits it is reasonable to believe that several years might elapse before it would be entirely regained."

PERSONAL EXAMINATION
"To make sure that the results sought in California were being obtained in the east, I went into the markets and made a personal examination of the fruit as it arrived. I was not enabled to test as much fruit as I would have liked to have done but I was able to test sufficient to show beyond a doubt that practically all California oranges were coming through in reasonably good shape."

"However, the fruit buyers had long before established the fact that California navel and valencia were standing up and there is nothing quite so accurate as the price barometer in determining the buying mood of the market. Receivers and buyers verified this. Those sharp-eyed, clever fruit buyers do not offer attractive prices for fruit that is not satisfactory."

Poulsen said the eastern fruit buying public is becoming more and more maturity conscious. PUBLIC WATCHING FRUIT
"Buyers are particular that the fruit is ripe enough to satisfy the customer. When cantaloupes arrived from California ready for immediate table use, the demand responded well. The same condition resulted when it was found that California plums were good to eat even at the start of the season."

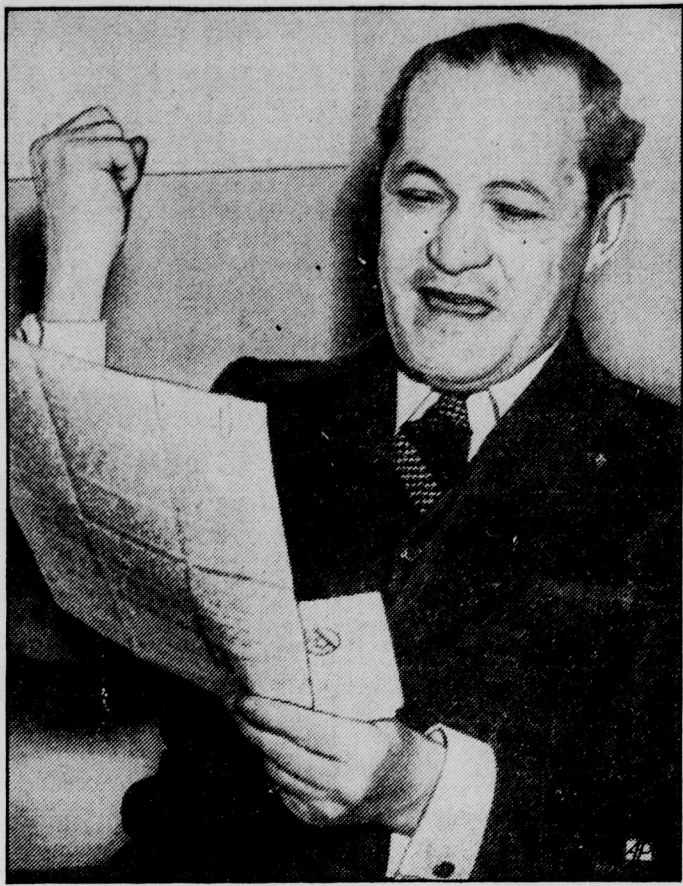

"California cherry shippers might be interested to know that New York cherry buyers demanded this year that all cherry lugs be displayed from the bottom as well as the top. The reason for that was that certain shippers had sought to deceive the buyers by filling the lower part of their boxes with small, inferior fruit, while dressing the top with big, luscious, beautifully colored fruit."

"Men who have been buying fruit for many years and from all sections are quick to discover such practices and the sellers were compelled to prove that their cherries were uniform. This condition improved during the latter part of the shipping season."

A bill authorizing an appropriation of $11,580,000 annually for use in making payments to states for the education of physically handicapped children has been presented to the senate.

WELFARE HEADS PLAN S. A. CONVENTION

DAY CHOSEN
COMMANDER
OF D. A. V.Veterans Warned of Attack on Rights

David R. Day, Fullerton, was unanimously elected to the position of commander of the Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, at their annual election at K. of C. hall, with John Cleary, present commander, presiding.

Day, well known in veteran circles throughout the county, has been active in the D. A. V. organization since its inception in 1927 and under his leadership a very successful administration is anticipated by the membership. He is at present secretary of the Veterans Welfare association of Orange county and is just completing a term as commander of American Legion post at Fullerton. Installation will be held early in September when Day will make his appointments for the coming year.

ASKS VETERAN AID

V. L. Brown, legislative chairman, warned a large group of disabled veterans present, that it is imperative that close cooperation and an enlarged membership is necessary to combat the newest attack, now in formation, which will be presented to the next congress on veterans' rights.

"Present indications are that the needs clause, more drastic than any previously suggested, will be inserted into veterans legislation," Brown stated, "and battle casualties will be the only class that will be compensated if present plans of the administration are successful next year."

"It is also planned to place the veterans administration under the national security division," Brown continued, "so it behooves all veterans, and more especially all disabled veterans, to renew their memberships promptly and secure all eligibles in the county" so that we may be able to forcibly present our views to the next congress to prevent a repetition of the conditions as they existed immediately following March 20, 1933," Brown concluded.

George R. Hudson, state hospital chairman and ninth district commander, outlined his program for the coming year and heartily commended Jack Fisher chapter for its outstanding hospital work during the past year, under the chairmanship of Herbert Thwaite. He solicited the continued support of the local unit and hoped for a more extensive activity during the coming year.

OFFICERS NAMED

Officers elected to serve under Commander Day include Ellis W. Gaddis, Anaheim, senior vice commander; Claude A. Pullen, Corona Del Mar, junior vice commander; John Cleary, state executive committee member, and chapter executive committee members as follows: John E. Kemper, Anaheim; Joseph E. Payne, Costa Mesa; C. C. Tripoli, Orange; Harry J. Starr, Yorba Linda; P. C. Brooks, Tustin; Glenn D. Watkins, Laguna Beach, and Virgil Marr, Santa Ana.

In lieu of the next meeting, scheduled for Aug. 18, a beach picnic will be arranged with Claude A. Pullen serving as host. Headquarters will be maintained at the Newport Beach Legion hall and the program includes a boat ride on the bay with the compliments of the harbor chamber of commerce. Reservations must be sent in to the adjutant or Pullen before Aug. 16.

Solons Watch President's
'Pony Express' for Message

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The capital's man of the moment is Maurice C. Latta, who will deliver President Roosevelt's supreme court nomination to the senate.

Most people don't know it, but Latta, not the United States mail, hauls the President's nominations and messages to congress.

Ever since Mr. Roosevelt hinted that the nation will learn the nominee's name only when it is given the senate, Latta—a lanky, bespectacled Pennsylvanian—has been the human Pony Express between the White House and Capitol Hill.

As executive clerk of the White House, he has addressed the senate about 3000 times, which is more than most senators accomplish in a lifetime.

A straight diet of Latta's little speech would get pretty boring. "I am directed by the President of the United States to deliver to the senate a nomination in writing," for "senate" and "message" for "nomination."

Latta's route is historic Pennsylvania avenue—the reverse of every President's inaugural ride. He makes the trip by automobile, although in times past he's done it by horse, trolley and even by foot.

Rumor Sale of Cord Holdings

NEW YORK. (AP)—The New York Sun said today formal announcement of the sale of E. L. Cord's stockholdings in the Cord Corp. to a Wall Street group including Schroeder, Rockefeller & Co., Emanuel & Co., and private investors was expected before the end of the week.

Reasons for Cord's decision to sell his holdings were unknown, the Sun said. It was reported L. B. Manning, a Cord associate, and president of Aviation Corp., might take over active management of Cord Corp., under the new setup.

Ships Arrive
For Harbor Day

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—With 61 ships already at anchor in San Francisco bay, three more United States fleet ships were expected to arrive today, and a dozen more were scheduled to drop anchor before the week-end when San Francisco observes "Harbor Day."

The Langley and the Sandpiper of the aircraft base force from the Canal Zone were due in port. The battleship California, heading a group of 25 ships, arrived yesterday.

FRUIT STRIKE
BADGES COST
PUBLIC $494Cost of Citrus
Uproar Comes Out

By FRANK ORR
John Q. Taxpayer, along with Sheriff Logan Jackson, should be sorry we had a citrus strike last summer. It got Jackson a lot of criticism as well as some praise. And it cost John Q. good cold cash.

They estimated the loss to growers, pickers and the public at several thousand dollars a day. That was the big cost, which only could be estimated.

COST REACHED $18,236
But add to those hypothetical figures the sum of $18,236.90. Plus several dozen pick handles, and other miscellaneous items, not budgeted, and you have the amounts spent by Sheriff Jackson's office to keep "the streets of Orange county from running with blood."

The figures, closely guarded as the Kohinor diamond at the time, as were the number of machine guns and pick handles, popped out today, along with a lot of other things, in the tentative budget.

To show that the cost of a strike isn't all assessed against the orange grower, the picker, and the merchant who loses business as a consequence, there are two items for salaries for special deputies.

SPECIAL DEPUTY FEES

At $5 a day, the several dozen ex-service men and others who patrolled groves drew down $3189.55 before June 30 of last year, when the fiscal year ended. In the fiscal year just closed which included a goodly portion of the strike period, the special deputies drew down $11,740.28.

The deputies had to be armed, but most of them took their own revolvers and automatics. Few of them, fortunately, had to use them. Several were equipped with shotguns of various makes, including some bought by the sheriff's office.

The shotguns—sawed off and known as riot guns on the budget, cost $2117.48. Sub-machine guns, bought in the early days of the strike, cost $695.19.

For 31 years, Latta—a lanky, bespectacled Pennsylvanian—has been the human Pony Express between the White House and Capitol Hill.

Officer Shoots
Vegetable Dealer

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—James Dowd, a police officer, today shot and killed a produce dealer identified only as Piemonte, who ran amuck in a commercial area of the old Barbary Coast district.

F. M. Black, police inspector, said Piemonte had hurled a cabbage knife at a customer during a discussion over prices of vegetables and sought to attack Dowd with another cabbage knife and a hatchet when the officer fired in what police considered self-defense.

Opens Salary Quiz

Employers in the counties of Orange, San Bernardino, and Riverside are cooperating with George M. Cole, area representative of the state personnel board, in a state wide salary survey now being conducted by the board. The purpose of the survey is to determine whether or not salaries of state employees are out of line with salaries paid to other public and private employees.

According to William Brownrigg, executive officer of the state personnel board, the information now being obtained from the employers will be compiled into a statistical summary which will be available not only to the board for the adjustment of state salaries, but also to other governmental agencies and private employers to help them in establishing uniform rates of pay.

Brownrigg stressed the fact that the data obtained by the state investigators in the present survey will remain entirely confidential so that no employer need fear that his private records will be made public.

The boy fell into the surf while fishing from a rock and his father plunged in after him. Their bodies were recovered by Craig and Collins, who applied artificial respiration for more than an hour.

Reason for Choice

More than 120 welfare officials and administrators from eight Southern California counties will meet here Aug. 20 and 21 to discuss new state aid and security programs.

Welfare Director Jack Snow said today he had received approval of plans for the Santa Ana conference in a letter from Mrs. Florence L. Turner, director of the state department of social welfare.

"Santa Ana was chosen for the institute because of its central location and the desirable facilities available here," Snow said. "Provision is being made for 120 persons on each of the two days with the possibility that even this attendance will be exceeded."

Eight counties which will send representatives are Imperial, Inyo, Los Angeles, Riverside, San Bernardino, San Diego, Ventura and Orange.

Sessions will be held in junior college and board of education buildings, according to arrangements made by Snow and Superintendent of Schools Frank A. Henderson.

AFTERTHOUGHT

RALEIGH, N. C.—County Clerk W. H. Sawyer got this letter from a woman whose name he withheld: "Will you please let me know whether or not I am divorced, for if I am not divorced I am in a hell of a fix. I have just got married again."

Sawyer, after checking the records, eased the lady's mind.

WHERE IT GROWS

DES MOINES.—The harvest situation is reversed—tall corn has the midwest "by the ears."

Governor Philip LaFollette of Wisconsin and Iowa's Governor Nels G. Kraschel thought they settled the question of tall corn last week when a 16-foot, six-inch Iowa stalk won the "corn derby" the two governors staged here.

But Hiawatha, Kan., reported a 16-foot, six-inch stalk, Sidney, Ia., a 16-foot, 7-inch stalk, and a Blue Earth, Minn., farmer turned in what he said was a 19-foot-six inch skyscraper.

Mrs. Lynn Crawford Entertains At Laguna Hotel

Cooling breezes from the ocean lent zest and particular enjoyment to a delightful affair given yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Laguna by Mrs. Lynn Crawford of Santa Ana. Mrs. Crawford had invited some three dozen friends to luncheon so that they might tender a post-nuptial courtesy to Mrs. Merton David Butler, the former Miss Tessie Childers.

Coincidentally with the awarding of gaily wrapped prizes in red and blue at the conclusion of the afternoon's play, Mrs. Butler was totally surprised by the presentation of an array of inviting gifts, all of which turned out to be accessories for her new kitchen, in tones of scarlet and Dutch blue.

Those uniting with Mrs. Crawford in the pleasant courtesy as her guests were Mrs. Emma Childers and Mrs. Olive Butler, mothers of the bride and groom, and the Mesdames Ray Adkinson, Robert Lowe, Ralph Livenspire, Jack Bascom, W. F. Croddy, Boyd Munger, Sheldon Russell, Dorsey Davis, P. C. Elliott, E. M. Sundquist, Milan Miller, George Kohlenberger, Ralph Raitt, R. Carson Smith, Henry Williams, Perce Page, Clarence McFadden.

With memories of a delightful three-week vacation trip to Alaska behind them, Mr. and Mrs. Lew Blodget are once again at home at 2339 Oakmont drive and are immersed in school plans for their two attractive young daughters.

Her younger sister, Miss Rosemary, will enroll as a sophomore at high school this year.

The Blodgets left by train early in June for Seattle, where they boarded the S. S. Alaska and sailed as far as Seward. An interesting feature of their trip, which was characterized by almost constant rain, was the presence aboard their steamer of Buster Anderson, winner of the 1937 $75,000 ice-flow pool at Fairbanks. He was also winner of the ship's time-pool for making port.

Mr. and Mrs. Blodget spent several days in Seattle before making the return train trip to Santa Ana.

Mary Stoddard

Superiority Attitude Worse This Time Than Any Inferiority Complex

Does it sound too radical when I state my belief that "inferiority," the nightmare complex that mothers dread so much, is often more preferable than too much assurance?

The self-assured have a tendency to dissipate energy. They want everything. Consequently, nothing bittersly enough to suffer in the getting. Our inferior youth may do so. He knows patience.

I'm a bit weary of the drive in education and training to make everyone a leader sufficient unto himself and to no one else. If youth has no handicaps to straighten out, restlessness ensues. Without deep emotion nothing has much meaning.

It seems to me this 21-year-old youth which a parent writes about today is an example of this:

Dear Miss Stoddard: So many parents read your column I wonder if any of these could suggest the right thing to do with a son so resourceful as mine? Or is it me who needs to change my old-fashioned ways.

He is the oldest of five children and is 21, a high school graduate, has a good, steady job, a good car, is rather tall, handsome and of good physique. He spends all of his money having a good time. He goes with one girl friend after another and leaves them heartbroken for a new friend.

There's only one good thing I can say that he really does pick a better girl each time. He does not smoke or drink and does not pick those kind of girls either.

He uses his parents and sisters and home, a good background, for to his best advantage and influence upon the girls. Do you think he will ever meet a girl who will slap him down and hold his respect so he really will think a great deal of her and try hard to win her?

He never brings any of his troubles to his parents or asks for advice. But he will accept the advice of his friends which is too worldly often times. Any Christian advice is too old-fashioned he thinks. One of the things he thinks is that it is proper for either one to step out on the other after they are engaged. Also that it is proper to neck and for a girl to go unchaperoned before her engagement even though she is under age. He says it's their business and he has his own way.

TOROSA SEWING CLUB

Many a using games were played outdoors with awards going to Miss Dorothy Roddeck, Miss Gesliena Ellinghausen, Mrs. Henry Bargin, Mrs. George Schroeder, and Miss Virginia Farwell.

Late refreshments were served at a long table centered with a blue parasol from which extended pink streamers. Beneath it was arranged a complete bridal party fashioned of miniature dolls, and flanking them were a number of lovely miscellaneous gifts for the guest of honor.

Present in addition to the prize-winners were the Mesdames Dietrich Blankmeyer, Adeline Davis, Killy Harms, Otto M. Roddeck, George Schroeder, A. R. Benson, W. A. # Low Blood Pressure Is Weakening

By C. N. CHRISTIAN, M. D.

Much has been said and written about high blood pressure or arterial hypertension, but little about low blood pressure or arterial hypotension. Low pressure is rarer than high and is far less important in its effect upon the length of life. But it has much to do with our health and our ability to turn out work.

Normal blood pressure in adults ranges from 125-130 systolic with a diastolic of 75-85. Any pressure over 140/90 is high for any age. Children in their teens are normal at 115/70. Any systolic pressure below 105 and a diastolic below 60 constitutes low blood pressure for adults. Any prolonged debilitating disease results in low pressure.

The chief causes are typhoid fever, diphtheria, tuberculosis, influenza, pneumonia or brain infections, burns, and shock from any injuries. Influenza is one of the serious invaders and this explains why the sense of weakness and prostration following this disease is so extreme. The sufferer from low blood pressure is of low resistance, particularly of the abdominal muscles, the chest is long and flat and sagging stomach with constipation and often anemia are the rule in a severe case.

The chronic hypotension victim is a miserable creature. He suffers much longer than the high pressure case, but there is not much satisfaction in the experience since he is always hampered by lack of strength and energy. These patients want to lie down a great deal, as the reclining position carries more blood to the brain and increases the pressure.

The most serious cause is that resulting from a weakened heart muscle, but the tendency to rest adds this condition. The feeling of faintness, dizziness, and ringing of the ears is improved by lowering the head and many of these cases are relieved by putting the head between the knees.

Good food and sunshine are essential. Strychnine sulphate, 1/100 to 1/60 grains three or four times daily for weeks will help. Elixirs of iron, quinine and strychnine will stimulate the appetite, and tone up the muscles of heart and blood vessels.

You "stylish stout" who feel there is no place in the fashion world for you, may be happy in the thought that Marian Martin has a special flare for designing slenderizing frocks with bodice detail especially suited to the full figure. Pattern 9369 as you will notice, has a long paneled yoke with a graceful roll to its notched collar. The short, cool sleeves will prove the greatest comfort to you on sweltering days, while the panel front skirt with its smart pleats is plenty full for walking or driving a car. So easy to make is this "charmer" that you will surely want to make several versions in smart gay cotton prints or shantung. Complete diagrammed Marian Martin sew chart included.

Pattern 9369 may be ordered only in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 requires 4 1/4 yards 36-inch fabric.

FAREWELL PARTY GIVEN FOR AUDREY BARNES

As a surprise farewell courtesy, Miss Audrey Barnes, who will leave Sept. 1 for John Brown's school in Arkansas, was complimented at a picnic supper held in Anaheim park last night.

Miss Barnes, a June graduate from Santa Ana High school, was showered with gifts by a group of friends who gathered to honor her. Hostess for the evening was Miss Ruth Miller, who served a pot-luck dinner at 6:30 p. m.

Included in the party were Miss Barnes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Barnes, Mrs. H. C. Miller, Mrs. L. W. Slaback, Mrs. Ed Schwarm, Mrs. Irma Owens, Miss Alice Upson, Miss Mildred Goodwin, Miss Hazel Schwarm, Miss Marjorie Lewis, Miss Thelma Lambert, Miss Lela Slaback, Miss Virginia Adams, Miss Mary Hunter, Miss Winola Barrett, Miss Dorothy Frank, Miss Mabel Linville, Miss Ruby Belle Williams, Miss Bertha Birdsell, Miss Edith Marie Hubert, Miss Margaret Goodwin and Miss Leona Baxter.

Headliner in U. S. C.'s school of art and architecture is Robineau prize-winner, Glen Lukens, former Fullerton instructor, whose "spontaneity of line and form" are constant inspiration to his students.

Paul Frankl takes enough time from his decorating to give the aspiring timely hints on the business angles of decorating. Formerly with Chaurand, Frankl devotes full teaching time now to U. S. C.

Local-boy-who-made-good, Ross Dickinson, now affiliated with Art Center School, is on my "watch" list.

Barse Miller is another member of that brilliant faculty.

Williams, Jr., of Berkeley, Calif. James Baker of Fullerton was soloist for the occasion and Rev. Howard B. Clark, Los Angeles minister, former pastor of the Fullerton Methodist Episcopal church, officiated.

Immediately following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained the bridal party with a dinner in Whittier. The couple will live in Palo Alto where Mr. Williams is a landscape architect.

Cage Attracts Very Fine Birds

PARIS. (AP)—The Bird Cage has opened fire—to let the birds in, not out. And birds of a very fine feather they are, too.

The cage is a super club, one of the swankiest. Admittance by invitation only. It is perched atop of the Pavillon d'Elegance at the Paris exposition.

Finished in bamboo and willow in imitation of a real cage, it is hung all around with birds, some live, some mechanical. The mechanical ones sing almost as sweetly as the live ones, too. There is one American note to the whole, beautiful setup. The orchestra is composed of negroes from the United States.

Coronation Influences Eye Makeup

By JACQUELINE HUNT

Even milady's make-up must bow to the influence of the British coronation. Not only do we have coronation styles, jewelry and coiffures; coronation shades in our costumes and nail polish, but now we must have faces made more glamorous with jewel tones of eye and cheek make-up.

Luminous eye shadows were highlighted by several beauticians and when the ladies of the English royalty appeared at the coronation, their faces were made up to match their finest jewels.

There are shades of emerald, sapphire, jade, turquoise and amethyst shadow set through with silver. There is a bronze eye shadow that is very popular and pure silver and gold to be blended with your favorite color.

Remember that eye make-up must be truly a "shadow." If you try the trick of blending a metallic shadow with the one you ordinarily use, apply your own shadow first—keeping faintly over the entire lid and out toward the tips of your eyebrows. Then blend the gold or silver shadow near your lashes and at the outer corners of your eyes.

The skillful application of eye make-up cannot help but make your face lovelier. If your eyes are small or too close together, apply the shadow from the center of your eyelid outward toward the temples. Mascara the outer lashes more heavily and darken the outer tips of your eyebrows.

If your eyebrows grow fairly low or your eyes are deep-set, eye shadow is not so flattering. Be sure that your lashes are brushed free from particles of powder or lint and that they are darkened to give them emphasis and make your eyes appear larger. Thin your eyebrows slightly if necessary to give them a neat, clean-cut line.

Ice Cream Is Always Suitable

By JUDITH WILSON

Every American, young or old, loves ice cream. Once upon a time it was reserved for special occasions — for birthdays, Sunday callers and the Sunday school picnic. Now, thanks to modern refrigeration and to improved freezers, you can serve it as often as you wish.

Here are several recipes for ices and ice creams you will want to serve frequently in the hot summer months.

Lemon Ice Cream

Beat 2 eggs until very light. Add 1/2 cup sugar gradually, beating until the mixture is rather thick. Combine with 1/2 cup light cream, 1 1/2 cups heavy cream, 1/2 cup lemon juice and 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind. Pour into the freezing tray of an automatic refrigerator. When frozen, remove to a chilled bowl and whip until fluffy. Return to the refrigerator to freeze until firm. This can also be made in an old-fashioned freezer.

Spanish Cream Cake

Line a mold or deep refrigerator tray with slices of sponge cake cut 1/2 inch thick. Squeeze 1/2 cup orange juice and 1/2 cup lemon juice and sprinkle 1 tablespoon spoon gelatin on top. While the gelatin is soaking, scald 2 1/2 cups milk. Beat the yolks of 3 eggs until light, add 1/2 cup sugar and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Add to the milk and cook in a double boiler until the custard coats a spoon. Add the softened gelatin and fruit juices and 1 teaspoon grated orange rind. Cool. When the mixture begins to thicken, beat and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Pour into the mold or pan, cover with more sponge cake slices and chill in the refrigerator for 8 to 12 hours.

THE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

By DONALD BUTTON

Thus, casual, but careful, presentation of some of the influential points in teaching.

Each is a leader in his line. Each one, I believe, is thoroughly in accord with the most advanced progressive ideas in education.

Fall is the time for Return-to-Learning. With this advance notice, make the most of your opportunities!

I broke from usual reserve this week in presenting what I see to be the true picture at Laguna. I see no reason for being dissuaded from the view, or stand, I took, publicly, on Wednesday.

Otherwise—Rex Brandt vividly recalls last winter's cold with "Rain After the Frost." Norman Chasabian's "Road to Santa Fe" is more worthy of him than his last selection for Laguna. There's lots to see in Tom Craig's "Lumber Boat."

Personally, Jean Swiggert's "Pink Ribbon" is a better decorative portrait than Ivan Bartlett's "Portrait from the Past."

Seymour Paul does still another thing in his "Near Ajo." Ivan Messenger's "California Jungle" hangs beside it.

Downstairs, Milford Zornes' "Evening at the Critiques" indicates why the eastern critics were so enthusiastic.

I liked Dan Dickey's "Study of a Young Girl" and Phil Dyke's "Oregon Coast."

A very high point in a very erratic show is Tom Lewis' "Widow Summer's Last Spin," humorous and, I think, satirical comment upon the neighbors.

There is still, even after the outburst, something worth seeing. I'm sure you'll want to go!

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

— By —
ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD. — The Massachusetts legislator who wants to make actors and entertainers use their right names has something there. . . . Only in Hollywood some of us wish there were a law to enforce name changes in certain cases. . . . Personally I think Olivia de Havilland would get farther with half as many syllables. . . . I always get a callous on the typing finger when I have to spell it out. . . . And Sonja Henie's famous "All Baba" would sound off when old Chicago wanted silence, and between the two of them Heidi got no peace. . . . Alan Dwan, with Temple in tow, threatened to knock off for the day unless things were done about it. . . . The studio cops were helpless, caught between three directors. . . . So the studio manager went down, in person, and worked the sets in shifts.

All the O'Malleys—Pat and Mrs. Pat and the three girls—work in pictures. Eileen, 20, is stand-in for Jean Parker. She made her first picture when she was nine months old, appearing with Billie Burke. She'd forgotten that until Miss Burke told her about it the other day.

Richard Lane, the new actor, is practically cured of fishing. . . . He spent his first week-end at Catalina recently and went to the beach. . . . Felt a bite and began tugging at his line, drew it in slowly, leaned far out. . . . Appeared on the surface the face of a "sheephead" fish. . . . Lane yelled "He's made up to play a part!" . . . and threw his catch back.

Romance department: Elissa Landi is a frequent visitor to the Nino Martini set. . . . Wayne Morris is calling up Alice Faye. . . . One day last week New York reports had Tyrone Power and Sonja Henie secretly wed, Hollywood reports had them feuding. . . . And all the time, at least four evenings in a row, they were "dating" as usual.

With Louise Hovick in the movies it looks like a case of local girl has to make good. . . . because there can't be any more Gypsy Rose Lee specialties on Broadway. . . . Peter Lorre, who always said he wouldn't resort to artificial make-ups, is wearing a three-section rubber mask for "Look Out, Mr. Moto!" . . . Proving that actors should read their scripts before making broad statements.

One of the town's legends is that all the restaurants are full of beautiful waitresses. . . . You don't find the dance directors recruiting their choruses on the march from the kitchens and it's been a long time since a director spotted a waitress for stardom, even in a publicity yarn.

Fashions-for-men notes: Lloyd Bacon directing in a brown-checked coat, coral shirt, flowered necktie. . . . Sidney Lanfield lunching in a yellow suit, with polo shirt to match. . . . But Boris Morris still holds the record for sartorial splash.

Things looked serious for a while on the 20th Century lot the other day. . . . Cantor and "All Baba" were working on an outdoor set adjoining the exterior set.

COLORADO TRIO VISITS HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Carey Haynes, 617 Cypress street have been entertaining Mrs. Anthony Conty and small sons, Franklin and James, of La Jolla, Colo., for a week. Mrs. Conty is Mrs. Haynes' niece.

Mrs. James Wastler, mother of the visitor, came from Los Angeles to be with the group this week.

FINAL RITES FOR THOMPSON

BERKELEY. (AP)—Funeral services for Ira F. Thompson, 52, associate justice of the California state supreme court, will be held this afternoon.

A former superior court judge and appellate court justice in Los Angeles, Thompson was named to the state supreme court in 1932 by Gov. James Rolph, jr. The justice died Wednesday of a heart attack.

At the Theaters

The barking of six-guns and the thumping of hoofs fills the screen of the State theater today as "Two Gun Law," a Peter B. Kyne story, opens for a two-day run. Charles Starrett plays the stellar role, with Peggy Stratford co-starred. Also on the bill are "Lodge Night," an Andy Clyde comedy; "Streamlined Gretna Green," a colored cartoon, chapter two of "Jungle Jim," and a newswear.

Movie Theater Boo-ers Open Raspberry Drive on Ads

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Encouraged by their own sound effects, members of the Society for the Booing of Commercial Advertisements in Motion Picture Theaters pressed today a campaign to make movie goers "boo conscious."

Approximately 30 members of the society, more than half of them women, greeted in lusty chorus last night all commercial advertisements shown on the screen at Little Rock's largest theater.

Ignored by the booers were two policemen on guard at the rear of the theater, house lights that glared suddenly at the first chorus of "boos," and amused stares from other patrons.

Secretary M. C. Blackman claimed a victory. "The theater obviously curtailed booing."

Chief of Police James A. Pitcock warned against "rough-house" tactics and added: "But there's no law against booing."

Are Your Feet 'Killing' You?

MILLIONS WALK IN COMFORT WITH CUBOIDS

End needless suffering from tired, aching feet, weak ankles, cramped toes, weak or fallen arches, rheumatic-like pains in your feet and legs. Regardless of your condition, you now can get prompt, positive foot relief and comfort. . . . Science now makes available the finest foot relief of modern times, a definite contribution to foot health—BURNS' CUBOIDS.

Much foot trouble is caused by neglect of muscles holding the Cuboid Bone in place. When muscles are weakened through lack of use, the result is that the weight of the body forces the bones of the foot down and out of natural position; circulation is hindered. . . . The cords of the feet are cramped and the heart is overworked by pressure on arteries of the foot.

Visit our Shoe Department and let a BURNS' CUBOID specialist analyze your foot trouble, and show you how foot comfort is yours at very little cost. Consultation Free.

G. G. SANITARY TAXES DOWN

GARDEN GROVE.—Taxes for the Garden Grove Sanitary district will be decreased one cent on the hundred dollars for the coming year, 37-38, according to directors taken by the board of directors this week when the assessment rate was reduced from 20 to 19 cents. The 20-cent rate has been in effect for the past two years.

The reduction was made on the bond and interest fund which was reduced from five to four cents, this being deemed sufficient as the bonds are now more than half paid and there is already a surplus in this fund.

The tax rate for the general fund, which takes care of all other expenses of the district, was held at 15 cents, and this, the directors believe also will take care of the district's share of replacing the outfall sewer.

Expect Bolsa Couple Home

BOLSA.—Mr. and Mrs. Ted Conrad, who have been spending the past six weeks on a trip through the northwest, including visits in Oregon and Washington, are expected home this week.

Lola was wearing, for her coming number, an extremely modish evening gown of corn-silk velvet with no adornments. The very simplicity of it was striking. It set off the glossy, raven-black hair. It must be confessed, however, that unless one had the perfect figure possessed by Lola, that gown would have been a failure.

Lola looked at her watch. Norman Standish looked at Lola and admiration glowed in his eyes. Cora stared, and drew back slightly, fearing that the light from the dressing room might reveal her back in the corner, staring out from behind the imitation of half a fountain.

The music cue came. Cora heard her husband say, "I'll watch this, my dear."

The "my dear" sounded so tender that Cora's anger turned almost to fury.

CHAPTER XI
"TAKE me to Broadway, a block north of the Planet theater," Cora Standish told the taxi driver.

Arriving there, she had no difficulty in locating the stage door on a side street. A generous bill got her past the old man at the door.

She made her way through and around stacked-up scenery and found a stage hand who seemed unoccupied at the moment.

"Which is Miss Larkin's dressing room, please?" she asked.

"Down that way, miss," he replied, jerking a thumb to the stage left.

Cora shielded herself with the scenery and stage furniture, until she came to the door marked "No. 3." She squeezed behind a small and dark corner she could look out, with little danger of being seen.

She waited for some time, during which a hilarious black-out on stage.

A man came down with a basket of flowers and tapped on the door. Cora made every effort to look into the dressing room but could not, as Lola's maid answered. The man "Speed" Grogan, gave her the flowers and said, "Three minutes, Miss Larkin."

"She knows it," Imogene said, sharply, "she's got a watch."

Imogene closed the door. Cora saw the man grin.

Across, in the wings, dancing girls were lining up. Cora hardly gave thought to the scanty costumes they wore.

The door of No. 3 opened. Cora saw her husband standing there. Then she saw Lola Larkin.

Cora gasped. She was too truly feminine not to know great beauty when she saw it and her gasp was partly in bitter anger, partly in amazement over Lola Larkin's undeniable beauty.

Smith, Alice Heyner, Lucia Laufeld, Ina Gerritt, Margaret Hamblin, Irma Robinson, Elma Ames, Fern Stewart, Edna Welton, Ethel Watson, Jessie Harris, Margaret Wheeler, Daisy Norman, Joan Negus, Margaret Harris and Margaret Elliott. Eleanor Tobin and Hazel Houseworth attended as guests.

GO TO ROCK CREEK

GARDEN GROVE.—Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Dozier have gone to Rock Creek for several weeks on a vacation trip.

Announcement was made that Dr. C. C. Violett will be in charge of next week's program and members were urged to bring guests as an unusual program is being planned.

Lola Larkin, English star in a Broadway revue, loves Senator Balcom's son, Winfield, who wants to marry her. But Sen. Balcom goes to Martha Carter, clever lawyer, and asks her to prevent the match. Norman Standish, an Englishman, arrives in New York with his bride and goes to see Lola. His wealthy bride learns of this and, a close friend of Martha Carter, begs Martha to bribe Lola to keep away from Mr. Standish.

Mrs. Standish's curiosity and anger get the best of her and she starts out to meet this Lola Larkin, face to face.

As Standish spoke, Lola hurried toward the stage, passing so close that Cora could almost have reached out and touched her—or scratched her, as she wanted to.

Standish stepped back into the dressing room. Then he came out and went down to the wings. Cora's eyes were on another point where she could see Lola standing in readiness. Standish stood near her.

Cora thought bitterly, as she saw her husband without his top coat, hat, gloves or stick, that these were all in Lola Larkin's dressing room, glaring evidence that he made himself quite at home there.

A stage hand came along. Cora drew back into the half-darkness, but the man passed on. She looked out again in time to see Lola go on stage.

The audience there could be no doubt. A riot of applause followed. The way her husband stood there in the wings, staring out at Lola Larkin, made Cora feel from the blind rage of jealousy.

The applause died down. Then came Lola's voice. It amazed Cora. That so much power and sweetness could come from so small a woman was almost unbelievable, for Lola Larkin was the petite type.

Her singing was good. Cora admitted it. Why, she thought, should such a fortunate woman want to make so much unhappiness? She had everything—beauty, talent, success—and there were plenty of single men, charming young men, who were cruelly for Cora was sure her husband loved Lola.

Lola's dressing room door opened and Imogene came out with a wrap, a beautiful fur wrap, she locked the door and went down to the wings.

STANDISH saw Imogene. He whispered to her. She handed the wrap to him and went back to the dressing room. None of this was lost on Cora. Her husband was in readiness to put the wrap about Lola when she came off.

The applause thundered as Lola came off into the wings. Standish, the wrap over his arm, almost applauded. But as Lola approached, he stopped and put the wrap about her. Cora was sure he did it with great tenderness. She wished with all her heart she could have heard what her husband said.

The applause continued. Lola handed the wrap back to Standish, and answered an encore. It happened a second time.

Now the dancing girls came off, saving Lola alone to finish. Cora moved back to her hiding place behind the scenery close to Lola's dressing room door. She was determined to confront them when they came back. She had about her all control of herself. Her eyes blazed with hate as she saw Standish once more helping to fold the wrap about Lola.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

By JOHN HIX

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

By LARS MORRIS

SAILOR ATHLETES...

With the Brazilian government running too low on cash to toss away any large amount on such frivolities as athletics, 69 of Brazil's star athletes were packed aboard a small naval ship one day in 1932, were bade the South American equivalent of "bring home the bacon," and headed for Los Angeles for the Olympic games.

Working the ship themselves, the athletes sailed from port to port along the way, stopping at each one to attempt to peddle coffee, 50,000 lbs. of which they had been provided by their government for financing the trip!

The coffee business wasn't very good. When the athletes arrived in Los Angeles harbor, only 24 of them had the $1 necessary to pay the landing tax. The other 45 put out to sea again and headed for Northern California ports where they hoped to sell enough coffee to get them back to Los Angeles and ashore for the games.

Obviously the coffee market was still bad, for only 24 Brazilians who landed competed in the Olympics. They might as well have remained aboard with their ship-bound friends as far as their athletic successes went. Not one of them placed in a single event!

Judge Stump

Dear Judge: Did you ever attend a concert where someone didn't cough or sneeze in the part where the music is softest?

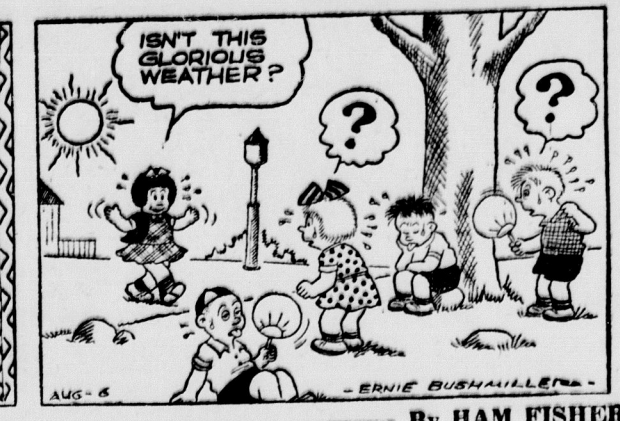

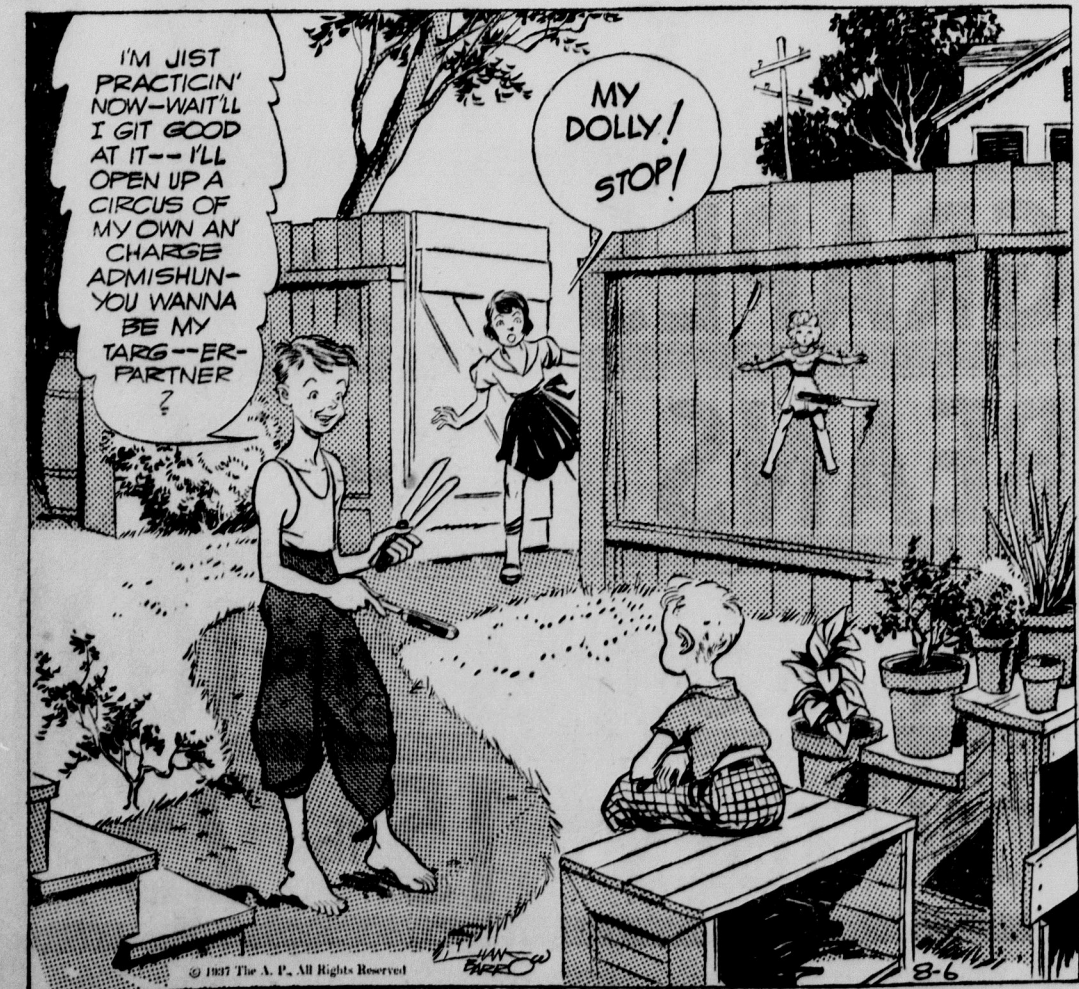

P. R. T.

Never did. This common annoyance in fact, was the inspiration for Drizzelous' sensational new "Hay Fever Symphony." When Birch park music lovers were asked to pick their favorite music, it won by a nose.

They Need Our Help

Have you ever seen a pitiful, bedraggled dust bowl family creeping along the highway in search of a new home?

Dad's shoulders are hunched over the steering wheel, while mother, her face furrowed by worry, hangs onto the youngsters to keep them from tumbling out.

The old car, with its cracked windshield, wheezes along loaded to the edges with household goods, mattresses and miscellaneous belongings.

All they own, animate and inanimate, is in that old machine.

You don't see so many dust bowl cars creeping along Orange county roads.

They are mostly up in the San Joaquin valley, where the refugees go to pick cotton and harvest central California crops.

There's not so much for them to do in over-competitive Southern California.

We already have too many poor folks on relief here and too many others trying to stay off relief by desperately working at little, ill-paying jobs.

These poverty-stricken newcomers now number 70,000 or 80,000 in California, if the figures in our possession are right.

Most of them have immigrated from their wind-blown farms of the Midwest.

They don't expect to find milk and honey, movie stars and bright lights like the chamber of commerce folders portray.

All they want is a chance to start life over again.

But it takes a nestegg to set up housekeeping and to get a little farm or business.

And it may be years before they accumulate that nestegg.

Meanwhile, what are they going to do?

Or, more important yet, what are we going to do?

In Bakersfield this week, Supervisor Harry Riley of Orange county joined up with nine other counties in a three-point program to try to help out these newest and poorest Californians. The program calls for:

1. An SRA survey to determine the normal seasonal labor needs.
2. An appeal to federal and private agencies to give sanitary and hygienic housing.
3. Federal conservation works to employ farm and orchard hands between harvests.

As for the survey to learn normal seasonal labor needs, this should not provide any difficulty.

Quite likely the information, or most of it, already is available at the farm advisor's office, the National Re-employment service and the headquarters of large employers, such as the Irvine company.

It should be collected and tabulated, however, so that an intelligent routing of the crops and the number of men and women needed to sow, cultivate or harvest them can be prepared for proper guidance.

The appeal to federal agencies for sanitary and hygienic housing may have early results, since Donald Renshaw, California director of the National Emergency council, is now in this part of the state investigating the matter for President Roosevelt.

There are reasons to hope that the President's personal interest in the desperate plight of the thousands of dust bowl refugees will result in an order to the Resettlement administration to expand its migratory camp program and expedite it so that migratory families will have at least the minimum of sanitary requirements when they pitch their camps for the winter.

As for private companies, that's up to them individually.

The last measure—conservation works—finds Orange county especially fortunate, since the huge dam construction program soon will get under way.

Big Prado dam and the eight others will give work to thousands of men over a period of three years.

The labor will be at regular scale—not at pinch-penny relief.

Millions of dollars in wages will flow to those who need work, and thence out into the ordinary channel of business, enriching the entire community.

In a hard-working, wealthy region, it is easy for the lucky people already lapping up the gravy to turn a cold eye on luckless newcomers.

But time moves on. Another few years will see the immigrants of 1937 absorbed into the commonwealth one way or another along with native sons and daughters.

It is well to remember this: California is growing and can support millions of more people comfortably.

Let's do all we can to help the unlucky dust bowl refugees get a decent, civilized start on the way to rehabilitating their fortunes in the West.

What this country needs is a good 25-cent first-run theater.

"Be Sure You're Right"

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has published recently a report showing its record of accomplishment for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1937.

The excellent work of the F. B. I. (or G-men to movie fans and gangsters) is well known. We don't need to give the record in detail. One phase, however, is significant.

Says the report: "During the year, convictions were secured in 94.67 per cent of all cases investigated by employees of the bureau which were brought to trial, as compared with convictions in 94.35 per cent of cases during the fiscal year 1936."

That's a fine record, proving that the bureau knows what it's doing and makes few mistakes. Apparently the F. B. I. motto is: "Be sure you're right, then go ahead."

FAIR Enough

John L. Lewis Biography and Murder

By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK.—In a biography of John L. Lewis, written by Cecil Carnes, there are two pages dealing with the Herrin massacre of 1922, in which 14 strikebreakers were shot by a firing squad of union men after their surrender under a flag of truce, two were hanged, and five others were taken to a cemetery and shot after being dragged along by ropes attached to an automobile.

Mr. Lewis himself formally deplored the butchery on behalf of his United Mine Workers and attempted to make it appear that the coal companies had hired secret agents to mingle with the union workers and provoke the slaughter of their own strikebreakers.

The strikebreakers were members of a union, but that union was in bad standing with the American Federation of Labor, just as Mr. Lewis' C. I. O. and this, in the opinion of Mr. Carnes, placed them outside the law. Mr. Carnes does not go that far, but by the same reasoning it would seem excusable though perhaps indecorous of the members of the A. F. of L. to make war on the C. I. O. today, and in the event of a surrender under a flag of truce, shoot, hang and torture the C. I. O. men.

WHO IS A SCAB?

Mr. Carnes does not admit that the Herrin massacre was indecorous. True, he calls the strikebreakers scabs, but the C. I. O. people would be scabs, too, in the eyes of the A. F. of L. If, in a jurisdictional fight between the two bodies, the C. I. O. should attempt to man the jobs and run the works.

"Strikebreaking," says he, "was a risky as well as a despicable business, and that is why higher wages were paid. The very fact that operators could go on at these inflated schedules indicated to the miners that all their economic troubles could be obviated if the operators were less greedy and there were no short-sighted laborers to cut the collective throat of regular workers."

"But just as silicosis and tuberculosis were occupational diseases among the miners, lead poisoning, a very sudden attack with sound effects, was that of the strikebreaker. It has been human weakness, even in lawful society, to fight murder with murder, and, in a strict sense, strikebreakers in the coal fields were murderers. If you help in the slaying you are in on it, and strikebreaking is, per se, evidence."

STRIKEBREAKING MURDER

So strikebreaking is murder, punishable by murder, and a strikebreaker, under the conditions used by Mr. Carnes in the Herrin case, is anyone who works for the strike job, even though he belongs to a union hostile to the union claiming jurisdiction in the plant. This seems a dangerous belief to apply to the labor field generally in this day, with many disputes in progress between two organizations each claiming 3,000,000 members.

"There were casualties on both sides," says Mr. Carnes, "and when the strikers finally captured some of the scabs they hanged them. It was very primitive murder, not as fast as, say, how executioners hang women in New York state's electric chair. But it was done just as finally. Coal mining, like slaving, is primitive business."

Aside from the demure understatement contained in the phrase, "There were casualties," Mr. Carnes indicates not only satisfaction over the massacre, but a belief which, extended to the recent little steel strike of the C. I. O., would have resulted in the same slaughter this country has seen since the Civil war.

YOUNGSTOWN THREAT

Indeed, Mr. Lewis' leader in Youngstown intimated to President Roosevelt that any attempt to operate the plant would cause terrific violence and bloodshed, and it would appear that they must have expected the C. I. O. to take the offensive, because the non-union workers, who were regular employees and not imported strikebreakers, obviously had no intention to come outside and start shooting. On the contrary, they were the ones who were not shot, and if it is murder, punishable by murder, for a man to stick to his job, they plainly needed protection. The retaliatory murder, of course, is not punishable.

Mr. Carnes' biography of Mr. Lewis is not official, and it is not fair to hold Mr. Lewis accountable for his curious enthusiasm for murder in a butchery more savage than the recent killings in south Chicago. Nevertheless, he does speak the sentiments of certain elements, how eager I do not know, in the radical labor movement which has been attracted to the C. I. O.

But still he only presents a puzzle, for the general application of Mr. Carnes' idea in the present rivalry would produce general slaughter on many fronts, with the victims conscientious union men and women all.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—The inside story of William Green's rescue of the wages and hours bill, the senate gives you an idea of how much the house of representatives will be called upon to modify that measure.

Had it not been for the mild-mannered little president of the American Federation of Labor, the bill now would be as dead as the six-judge supreme court bill. Roosevelt can thank Green and no one else.

What is more, Green's support not only was decisive, but it was an act of real courage.

There have been times when certain White House moguls privately have spoken witheringly of the senate's courage. But on this test, when not only would it have been easy, but to his personal advantage, to have ducked, Green went the line 100 per cent.

It required nerve on Green's part, because a powerful group in his own executive council was diametrically opposed to him. Led by John P. Frey, pugnacious boss of the metal trades department, this group had stormed the senate, and had the wages and hours bill practically defeated.

Their action constituted the first time in the history of the A. F. of L. that members of its executive council have openly gone over the head of their president and opposed him on a major legislative question.

What made it doubly courageous of Green to oppose them was the fact that he no longer has his membership in the United Mine Workers, also lacks rank-and-file support inside the federation. Therefore, to retain office he must depend on the goodwill of his executive council.

Nevertheless, when Roosevelt hurriedly summoned Green and asked him to save the bill, he did not stall or spar. His reply was straightforward.

"I want to be frank with you, Mr. President," he said. "The bill is not in a satisfactory form. It was considerably revised in committee and is not the legislation I endorsed when I appeared before the committee. However, I don't want to do anything to hurt you."

"You ask me to extend a helping hand, and out of friendship goodwill to you I shall do so. But, again, I want to be frank, I shall do so on the understanding that if the bill is not revised in the house to meet our demands I shall be free to disapprove of it."

"That is entirely satisfactory," Bill, the President replied. "The bill is not what I want, either. But it seems to be the best we can do in the senate and we will make every effort to better it in the house."

A half hour later, Green sent Senator Hugo Black, administration floor leader on the legislation, the statement that cut the ground from under Frey and revived the bill.

BUSY LADY
The death of her veteran colleague, Senator Joe Robinson, has doubled the work of Mrs. Hattie Caraway.

She has always been one of the busiest members of congress, for in addition to heavy mail from her own state, she receives hundreds of letters from women all over the country. A large percentage of these letters are from wives of veterans.

Mrs. Caraway takes great pains with her correspondence, arriving at her office early in the morning and working late at night to handle it. This is necessary because of her rule to be in her seat throughout the duration of every session of the senate or the three major committees of which she is a member. She has one of the best attendance records on Capitol Hill.

Since Robinson's death the whole burden of Arkansas affairs has fallen on her shoulders, and her mail has become so heavy that she has had to employ three additional stenographers.

CHARLEY MICHELSON
The reasons behind Crosby radio's hiring of Charley Michelson as its public relations advisor are obvious, but the reasons for Charley's acceptance of this job, even to his close friends, remain a mystery.

Charley previously had turned down a job offer from the Distilled Spirits Institute for $75,000 with the remark: "What would I do with the money?"

He has been getting $20,000 from the Democratic national committee, and long has joked among his friends that he didn't need that much. Michelson has no family, and his chief expense in his bridge game. He plays regularly every afternoon and loses between $400 and $500 per month. That is his only extravagance.

BIGGEST RADIO STATION
The job Charley is taking—at least from the viewpoint of the Crosby Radio corporation—is for only one purpose: to continue its license to operate its 500,000-watt radio station, WLW, at Cincinnati, the most powerful station in the world.

Other stations are limited to 50,000 watts at the maximum, and the North American radio conference convening Nov. 8 is expected to move toward the elimination of all large stations which tend to blanket the country.

Crosby's license is subject to cancellation every six months, in fact was just renewed on the day Michelson's employment was announced—although it seems likely he had nothing to do with it.

Previously, the late Anning Prall, chairman of the federal communications commission, was considered friendly to WLW, but with his death, Commissioner George Payne is reported to be preparing a drive to reduce the Crosby station's tremendous wattage to that of its competitors.

One Man's Opinion

By X REPORTER

A SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Sitting under a cool but friendly cedar tree on a sunny Sunday afternoon, I read in a magazine a revived version of the Tennessee "monkey trial" of some years back, in which William Jennings Bryan and Clarence Darrow opposed each other in a super-heated argument on the question of whether man came from the apes or from a mud bank.

As always since that sultry afternoon when W. J. Bryan, at the climax of the protracted argument, failed to waken from his mid-day nap, one of the ape-theory arguers cited the fact that Bryan was a prodigious eater.

What that fact—if it is a fact—has to do with the ape versus mud bank argument, I have never been able to see. Yet it enters into the case every time a debate on evolution brings in the names of Darrow and Bryan.

The editor of the magazine I was reading, after refereeing quite a debate—by mail—among his readers, topped off the whole discussion by writing: "Encyclopedia Britannica considers the evidence sufficient to justify calling evolution a fact. So does this magazine." He signed it "Ed."

So there! Nothing more to be said, apparently. The ape-men were victorious forever and eternally, as far as "Ed" was concerned. And I said before it was a sunny afternoon, and even the friendly shade of the drooping cedar boughs didn't keep me from feeling just a mite sleepy. And besides, who was I to argue against the combined wisdom of Clarence Darrow, Encyclopedia Britannica and the all-wise "Ed"?

Just then, across my line of vision there flitted one of my copper-breasted neighbors. A mother robin. In her beak she had a mid-afternoon snack for the helpless little ones in her nest.

That tiny robin suddenly somehow seemed to typify love, the origin and essence of love. And soul, too. Yes, soul.

I wanted to yell to C. D. and E. B. and Ed to fit that robin's regard for her babies into their copper-riveted theory of evolution. But they can't do it. Both the ape and the mud bank theories seem more like sense to me when I temper them with the robin idea.
